NEW MOVE MADE TO CLEAR SPAIN OF FOREIGNERS

Big Army Of South China Stated Joining Forces Of Nanking

Gen. Li, Now in Capital, Is Reported to Have More Than 3,000,000 Men

Forces Training Now in Kwangsi

NANKING (CP-Havas)—General Li Tsung-jen, Kwangsi war-lord long at odds with General Chiang Kai-shek, arrived here, Wednesday as reports he intended to place his huge army at the disposal of the Nanking government circulated in the city.

The powerful south China chieftain is said to have a standing army of 200,000 crack troops and a reserve of nearly 3,000,000 men, all undergoing military training.

Gen. Li and Chen Chi-tang, Kwangtung war-lord, split with Chiang Kai-shek several years ago, and in June, 1936, brought China to the brink of civil war when they mobilized a huge "national anti-Japanese army" and started a northern march to force the Nanking government to adopt a stronger stand against Tokio.

The threatened civil strike was averted when Chiang agreed to take military action against any Japanese attempt to seize Chinese territory.

MANY JAPANESE KILLED—SHANGHAI (AP)—A Chinese spokesman declared Wednesday Japanese forces had lost more than 3,000 dead and wounded in an attempt to crash Chinese lines across Wentzang Creek into Tazang, four miles northwest of the International Settlement.

The Japanese army used 15,000 men in its thrust. One Japanese flying column pushed ahead of the main body three miles to the outskirts of Tazang, where machine gun and hand grenade fire forced it to retire to the original position.

Tazang is the most strongly defended town on the Chinese line. Its capture by the Japanese might force the Chinese troops to

Japan Regrets Attack On Cars

But Government Insists British in China Did Not Follow Regulations

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—The Japanese Foreign Office Wednesday expressed regret at the "misfortune" which befell British embassy automobiles in China Tuesday when they were machine-gunned by Japanese planes between Shanghai and Nanking.

A spokesman insisted, however, the cars had violated the regulations agreed on by British and Japanese officials after the attack on British ambassador Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen in August.

In defence of the Japanese attack, the Foreign Office spokesman advanced three alleged violations committed by the British automobiles:

1. They took a route near the fighting zone different from that previously submitted to Japanese authorities.

TO USE EXPERT ON FRANCHISE

City to Appoint Outsider to Protect Victoria Interests On Power Issue

The suggestion that an outside expert be secured by the city to protect its interests in negotiations related to the British Columbia Electric Railway Company's franchise, renewal of which falls due shortly, was made at last night's City Council meeting.

Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan stated he thought the time had come when outside help should be secured. He suggested the mayor and committee chairman appoint an expert.

Alderman John Worthington supported him.

Alderman Archie Wills, chairman, reminded the council a meeting of the committee was scheduled Friday afternoon and suggested the appointment be considered then. He was glad to see Alderman Worthington behind the move, he added, stating that alderman had helped to kill the franchise committee idea when it was first broached.

The suggestion to secure an expert was supported.

KOREANS TELL OF MASSACRE

Border Group Say 3,000 Killed Or Wounded By Siberians

TOKIO (AP)—The Domei (Japanese) news agency reported Wednesday in a dispatch from Hsinking, capital of Manchukuo, that the Korean Association of Suifuho on the Siberian border had charged that 3,000 Koreans who were killed and wounded in a "so-called train wreck" were massacred by the Soviet.

The message to the Korean Association at Hsinking, Domei said, accused the Soviet of transporting the Koreans to the interior of Siberia because of their pro-Japanese feeling and massacring them en route by purposely wrecking their trains.

U.S. Blamed For Market Decline As London Recovers

Securities Regain Strength For Second Day in United Kingdom Trading

LONDON (AP)—The London security market today continued its recovery for the second day with various brokers saying the principal impetus for recent declines in markets on both sides of the Atlantic came from the United States side.

London financial men said lack of confidence among American owners of United States securities as to the outlook of business caused the initial selling wave which gradually spread to other international markets.

"Bear raids" in New York were not mentioned as a cause of the decline, but the brokers said many speculators had jumped into the falling market to make money through short selling operations.

Most London financial quarters refused to believe the withdrawal of European money from Wall Street by European sources later had added to the drop.

They said that much of the selling from Europe was ordered in Wall Street by operators doing

CITY TO STUDY GARBAGE ISSUE

Council Not Satisfied With Method of Disposal Permitting Refuse on Beaches

Failure of the present method of garbage disposal to keep the beaches free of refuse came in for censure by the City Council last night, with Mayor McGavin suggesting the towing company enjoying the city's contract should not be paid if it were found the concern was not living up to the terms of its agreement.

The issue opened mildly, with Alderman James Adam moving a vote of thanks to Commissioner Mrs. Alan Morkill and Girl Guides for their work in cleaning up city beaches last Saturday.

The alderman then asked the council to instruct the city engineer to see if the Island Tug and Barge Company was carrying out contract clauses in dumping the refuse far enough out to sea. On foggy days he didn't think the scow went much past the breakwater.

"If they are not meeting the terms of their contract, they will not be paid," Mayor McGavin said.

Alderman W. L. Morgan called for a report on the proposal to make a fill in the Erie Street ravine.

The proposal would provide a fine piece of property, but costs would run to about $10,000, even if the city could secure a piece of property privately owned and required for the project, Alderman Adam replied.

Alderman S. H. Okell emphasized the nuisance of garbage on the beaches, and stated he thought the city should take decided steps in the matter.

LONDON (AP)—King George expressed his interest in poor housing conditions today in a letter to his aunt, the Countess of Athlone, who will open two blocks of slum clearance flats in Kensington next Wednesday.

RESTORE PART OF PAY CUTS

Civic Employees Given Another 5 Per Cent Of Salary Reductions

Mayor Andrew McGavin's promised partial restoration of civic salary cuts was fulfilled last night as the City Council unanimously endorsed the resolution of the special wage committee granting 5 per cent increases to all except special cases who received extra consideration.

The actual resolution returning to the employees part of the amounts cut from their salaries read in part:

"That the present salaries of all civic employees directly under the control of the City Council, and library and police departments, with the exceptions set out below, be restored by 5 per cent from October 1, 1937."

It continued with a list of nine employees to whom the committee thought special consideration was due.

The restoration also applied to outside employees, except those at present in receipt of $4 a day, in all of which cases the rate was made $4.25 per day as from October 1.

The restoration did not apply to those employees who had not suffered any salary cuts.

The report was signed by Alderman John A. Worthington (chairman), W. Lloyd Morgan, S. H. Okell, Ed. Williams and R. J. Dewar.

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Albertabert announced today the Alberta government's submission in support of three bills referred to the governor-in-council would be mailed to federal authorities later today. Preparation of the submission was completed today.

Germany Pledges Belgian Integrity

Nonaggression Agreement Concluded in Berlin Unilateral Declaration

BERLIN (AP)—Germany concluded a non-aggression agreement with Belgium today. The accord was reached in an exchange of notes between Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath and Belgian Minister Jacques Davignon at the Berlin Foreign Office.

The German note said that inasmuch as a new agreement replacing the Locarno security pact might take a long time, the Reich wished to define its attitude toward Belgium without delay.

"Germany is determined under no circumstances to infringe on the inviolability and integrity of Belgium and to respect at all times Belgian territory except of course if Belgium should cooperate in any warlike operations against Germany," the Reich's note elaborated.

The German government, like the British and French, is ready to assist Belgium should it be attacked or invaded.

Informed circles, forecasting the accord Tuesday, said Chan-

Asturians Said to Have Started to Kill Off 5,000 Insurgent Prisoners

HENDAYE, on the Franco-Spanish Frontier (AP)—Execution of 5,000 insurgent prisoners held in Asturian prisons has "already begun," General Franco charged today in telegrams to Great Britain, France, the League of Nations and the International Red Cross.

The statement was made in reply to a message from the Asturian high command, in charge of the defence of Gijon, asserting the defenders could not be held responsible for the safety of insurgent hostages if Franco's planes bombed towns in which the government prisons are located.

POLICE HUNT BODY THIEF

Remains of Youth Stolen From Grave in Ontario; $100 Demanded

STREETSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—A ransom note left in an emptied coffin was the only clue police had today in investigating the gruesome snatching of the body of 20-year-old Hayden Pope from the grave in this little village 20 miles northwest of Toronto.

The emptied coffin contained a note to Pope's parents that "your boy will be returned on payment of $100 ransom," said persons who made the discovery.

Police, however, were unable to reconcile this demand with information the Pope family was far from wealthy. The parents were stricken by news of the affair.

Pope died last Thursday after a long illness and the body was buried Sunday. Suspicion something was amiss first came when

Beer Vote Here May Be Possible

Moderationist Group Reported Planning New Drive On Legislature

A vote in Victoria on the sale of beer by the glass is mentioned in provincial circles as a possible outcome of a new drive planned by interests seeking to have the sale of beer and wine in hotel restaurants and dining-rooms legalized.

Hotel interests, it is reported, will test the temper of the new Legislature in its attitude to the beer and wine proposal. The Liberal caucus of the last House repeatedly turned it down, but they have hopes the feeling may have changed.

The Victoria group two years ago submitted a petition asking for the change, and suggesting a plebiscite.

The government did not give a plebiscite on beer and wine, regarding it as ineffectual, but the suggestion now is that it might grant a straight vote on beer parlors to test the feeling here.

LONDON (AP)—A decision to call the international "hands-off-Spain" committee into session this week—possibly Friday—to seek quick decisions on the withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain was reported reached today at a lengthy meeting of the cabinet.

The report came as Prime Minister Chamberlain finished a 45-minute conference on the international situation with Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee, Leader of the Opposition in Parliament, and his deputy, Rt. Hon. Arthur Greenwood.

The reason for such consultations often is to obtain opposition support for government policy when important decisions are under consideration.

It was thought possible, however, that the conversations were connected with Mr. Attlee's request for a special debate on the Far Eastern situation when Parliament reassembles a week from tomorrow.

CABINET MEETS

The Labor leaders arrived at 10 Downing Street following a meeting of the cabinet.

The cabinet met to approve a new diplomatic approach to persuade Premier Mussolini to recall his soldiers from Spain, while II Duce sent out a call for 50,000 more conscripts.

British and French statesmen, following Mussolini's rejection of their invitation to tri-power talks on the Spanish civil war, were believed to have yielded to his wish to turn the question over to the London Nonintervention Committee, which has not met since early August.

France was said to have stipulated, however, that the negotiations be swept and that Great Britain agree to aid her in moving to "equalize the balance" in Spain should the negotiations collapse.

In event the talks, as now planned, fail, France was expected to open her frontier for shipments of arms to the Valencia government.

AMBASSADOR CONFERS

The decision to lay the intervention issue before the 27-nation London committee was said to have been reached Tuesday after talks between Foreign Secretary Eden and French Ambassador Charles Corbin.

Reports that Mussolini had summoned 50,000 more soldiers led observers to wonder if some of them might not be destined for Spain.

Fascist sources in Rome said, however, that some of the new soldiers would be sent to Libya and Ethiopia, while others would be kept in Italy.

Foreign Secretary Eden, who conferred with Prime Minister Chamberlain Tuesday, attended today's cabinet meeting.

The Far Eastern situation also was on the cabinet's agenda, including the approaching talks on the nine-power pact signatories and the machine-gun attack on two British Embassy automobiles outside Shanghai Tuesday by Japanese airmen.

An investigation of the attack was under way, with the likelihood of a sharp protest to the Tokio government.

Fascist Troops Joining Colors

ROME (AP)—Fascist officials strongly denied today that any of the 50,000 men reported called in a new blackshirt recruiting programme were destined for the Spanish service.

Italy, they said, was plugging all military holes in an effort to remain strong in view of the general European situation. But, they said, there was no specific point dictating this action.

Pensions Talks At Ottawa Nov. 2

Dominion-Provincial Conference on Old Age Payment Changes

OTTAWA (CP)—A Dominion-provincial conference on old age pensions will be held in Ottawa November 2, it was announced here today by Finance Minister Dunning. It will discuss amendments to the present act and general administrative problems with a view to securing uniformity and efficiency.

The Finance Minister promised at the last session of Parliament to call the conference before the end of the present year.

The Old Age Pension Act is administered by the provinces under agreements with the Dominion. The Dominion pays 75 per cent of the cost of pensions and the provinces the remainder, plus administrative charges.

E. S. H. Winn, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, has been appointed to represent British Columbia at the conference on old age pensions.

Seattle Woman Dies of Injuries

SEATTLE (AP)—Chief Deputy Coroner Harlan S. Callahan said today further investigation of the death of Miss Mary A. Stewart, 76, well-to-do spinster, whose body was found in her gas-filled kitchen Tuesday, had led to discarding of the theory she had been murdered and robbed.

Injuries she had sustained before death, however, he said, were difficult to explain.

Three Trainmen Killed By Blast

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—J. B. Crawford, engineer, and Frank Grieve, fireman, injured in an explosion aboard their engine Tuesday, died in a hospital early today. The firebox exploded near Caron, Sask., on the C.P.R. locomotive, bringing instant death to brakeman Samuel Irwin. He was struck by the fire-box doors as he stood in the engine cab.

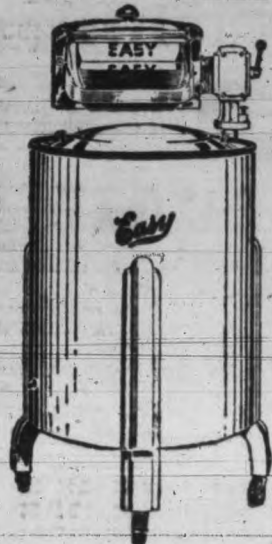

WANT CUT IN PHONE RATES

Alderman Ed. Williams Asks Conference With Company to Draft New Scale

On a motion by Alderman Ed. Williams, the City Council last night decided to seek an interview with representatives of the British Columbia Telephone Company with a view to requesting a downward revision of rates here.

Speaking to his motion, Alderman Williams referred to alterations in the schedule of charges in Vancouver. He understood changes were being contemplated here and that the revision might be upward.

The council supported his request for the interview between company representatives and members of the public works executive.

Despite fire from land, sea and air the Chinese clung to their lines on all fronts in the Shanghai district.

While Japanese planes resumed dropping bombs on Chapei a few yards outside the International Settlement boundary, the echo of their staccato machine-gunning of two British motor cars late Tuesday was creating more international phases.
Although no official statements had been made, it was learned the attack might have British, Italian and Russian repercussions, since citizens of those nations were passengers in the automobiles.

MANY SURROUNDED

TIENTSIN (CP-Havas)—Two Japanese columns, the Japanese general staff claimed today, have surrounded 100,000 Chinese in the flooded lowlands of the Oran swamps, midway between the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railways.

In an operation similar in some respect to that of Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg's smashing Great War victory over the Russian armies in the Masurian Lakes region of East Prussia, officers said, five Chinese army divisions were isolated after a forced march of 250 miles by the Japanese columns.

But unlike the German forces of 1914, the Japanese have no heavy artillery to crush the Chinese and have decided to leave an opening in their trap to permit the Chinese to retreat to the southeast. It was explained the surrounded divisions probably would adhere to the Chinese custom of fighting to the last man and thus take a heavy toll of Japanese if they attempted to bottle them up completely.

PEIPING (CP-HAVAS)—Japanese and Mongol troops in north China have captured Sulyuan, capital of the province of the same name, unconfirmed reports said here Wednesday.

Japanese forces advancing from the east co-operated with Mongol troops attacking from the north to occupy the provincial capital after heavy fighting, the reports said.

U.S. Congress
Urged to Speed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, ordering a special session of the United States Congress to start November 15, instituted a campaign today to enact by Christmas, if possible, the bulk of his legislative programme sidetracked in the last session.

Administration officials expressed hope for swift Congressional approval of five measures outlined by the chief executive Tuesday night in his tenth "fire-side chat."

1. Crop production control to "build an all-weather farm programme so that in the long run prices will be more stable."
2. Wage and hour standards to "make millions of our lowest-paid workers actual buyers of billions of dollars of industrial and farm products."

3. Regional planning to conserve natural resources, prevent floods and produce electric power for general use.

4. Government reorganization to provide "twentieth century machinery" to make the "democratic process work more efficiently."

5. Stronger anti-trust laws in furtherance of "a low price policy which encourages the widest possible consumption."

The Duke made use of the bar by inviting foreign correspondents, following in a motor bus, to have a drink with him.

New Ontario Cabinet Is Largest Since Liberals Came Into Power

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn today was surrounded by thirteen ministers, giving Ontario its biggest cabinet since the Liberal party came into power under Mr. Hepburn in 1934. Eight have achieved cabinet rank for the first time.

In the drawing-room of Government House, Lieutenant-Governor Herbert A. Bruce Tuesday evening swore into office the new cabinet, just six days after the Hepburn Government was returned to power in a general election.

Five members of the former cabinet went back into office—Harry C. Nixon as Provincial Secretary; Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways; Hon. Peter Heenan, Lands and Forests; Hon. L. M. Simpson, Education; and Hon. Paul Leduc, Mines.

The only ministers beaten at the polls last week, Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health, were not included in the new cabinet. Neither was Hon. C. W. Cox, minister without portfolio in the last government. Victor in Port Arthur, Mr. Cox will sit as a private member.

Three of the new ministers have never sat before in the Legislature. They are Hon. Gordon Conant, Attorney-General, member-elect for Ontario; Hon. Colin A. Campbell, Minister of Public Works, defeated in Addington; and Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs and Welfare, member-elect for Haldimand-Norfolk. Mr. Campbell resigned his Frontenac-Addington seat in the House of Commons to run for the provincial House, and a seat will be found for him.

Other cabinet newcomers were members of the last Legislature. They are Hon. Harold Kirby, who becomes Minister of Health; Hon. P. M. Dewar, Agriculture; Hon. M. M. Macbride, Labor; and Hon. W. L. Houck and Hon. St. Clair Gordon, ministers without portfolios.

In reply to a question, Mayor Andrew McGavin stated the restoration would cost the city $7,000 for the rest of this year and $27,000 for the whole of next year.

"What will happen if the school board brings in a similar recommendation," Alderman James Adam asked?

"I don't know," the mayor replied. "The committee has no jurisdiction over the school board," Alderman Williams added.

Alderman Worthington stated the committee had taken into consideration the financial condition of the city, the apparent success of the Fortin plan and the general trend towards higher wages throughout Canada.

"I think we did our job pretty well this time," he concluded.

POLICE HUNT BODY THIEF

Mrs. Robert F. Edwards, a neighbor, visited the cemetery to look at flowers she had arranged at burial.

Mrs. Edwards, noticing the open grave, became frightened and went immediately to her home. There she told of what she had seen to a grocery boy, Earl Raine, 22, who was delivering an order at her house. In turn, the boy went for aid.

His employer, D. A. Hewgill, and Thomas Doherty, hastened to the cemetery and after brief investigation called police.

Hewgill, in telling of his investigation, said he could "see a note in the bottom of the coffin. He said it appeared to be handwritten, but that he wasn't 'sure'."

An eyewitness to a later search of the coffin said the note Hewgill saw was a ransom demand. He said $100 was asked for return of the body.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police today held Charles Lorne on a charge of breaking and entering, after women working in St. John's United Church had routed a prowler from the building Tuesday afternoon.

celor Hitler wished to demonstrate to the world, through the pact, that Germany is animated only by peaceful intentions.
The Belgian note briefly expressed the Brussels government's "profound satisfaction" and thanks for Germany's assurances.

The German note to Belgium, an official commentator said, shows the world Germany solemnly agrees to respect the inviolability and integrity of its western neighbor.

"By this unselfish and generous step," the commentator said, "the Reich government can claim to have furnished an additional contribution to securing the peace of Europe."

UNILATERAL PACT

Germany's action was an exception to the rule, from a diplomatic standpoint, in that the declaration is unilateral, binding Germany but not Belgium.

Also, there was no mention of the League of Nations. Official sources, however, stressed the fact that "Germany would regain her freedom of action if, for example, on the basis of Belgium's membership in the League, the Belgian government were ready to place Belgian territory at the disposal of enemy troops for marching through or as a basis of operations."

Rome dispatches said Italy soon would follow Germany's lead and recognize the inviolability of Belgian territory.

BRUSSELS (CP-Havas)—In a commentary of the exchange of letters by which Germany today pledged respect for Belgian territorial integrity, the Belgian government declared that "Belgium has in no way lost sight of her obligations as a member of the League of Nations."

the public and we feel sure you will receive a generous response from the people of Victoria and surrounding municipalities."

From Walter M. Walker, president of the Kiwanis Club of Victoria: "On behalf of the Kiwanis Club of Victoria I wish to endorse the Greater Victoria Community Chest campaign, this effort being undertaken by many public spirited citizens to co-ordinate the financial appeals of 23 service agencies. It is very praiseworthy indeed and warrants the wholehearted support of every citizen."

Captain T. J. Goodlake, president of the Rotary Club of Victoria, said: "The Community Chest puts charity on a rational basis. There are many social service agencies which have to exist and have to have funds. Such an organization relieves them of the necessity of going out after the money and relieves the citizen of being solicited 23 times. Everybody should support it."

Harold Wilson, president of the Capital City Commercial Club, congratulated the Community Chest on its small operating cost, which is the lowest in Canada, and declared: "The Community Chest by raising in one short, economical campaign, funds required to maintain so many worthy agencies for welfare of the needy, is rendering a great service to the citizens of Victoria and deserving their wholehearted support."

NANKING (AP)—High Chinese authorities Wednesday night charged the airplane machine-gunning of British embassy motor cars Tuesday at Minghong was an attempt by Japanese to kill Gen. Chiang Kai-shek.

Authorities tonight disclosed the general now is somewhere in the vicinity of Shanghai inspecting defence lines on that front.

Gen. Chiang left Nanking this morning, but he originally intended to leave yesterday, the Chinese said, causing the Japanese to patrol the highway from the air in hope of killing the generalissimo.

STUDY OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS URGED

Governor-General, Premier King Speak at Montreal Assembly

MONTREAL (CP)—A sympathetic and open-minded study of world problems was urged here Tuesday night by Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, and welcomed by Prime Minister King, who declared "a little inquiry before reaching conclusions that might be false," would have a beneficial effect on the molding of public opinion.

The Governor-General and the Prime Minister spoke at the dinner commemorating the 10th anniversary of the founding of the Canadian Institute of International Relations. John W. Daffoe, editor of The Winnipeg Free Press and retiring president, presided.

Lord Tweedsmuir declared Canada, as a sovereign state, "cannot take her attitude to world affairs from Great Britain, the United States or from anybody else." Because of that it was necessary that Canadians obtain a true and just picture of world affairs.

Canada's foreign policy, the Governor-General said, "must be the cumulative views of the individual citizens and if these views are to be sound they must in turn be the consequence of a widely-diffused knowledge."

From this duty, Canada was not exempt, the Governor-General declared, as he asserted Canada must determine her own attitude on world affairs.

"If the Commonwealth in a crisis is to speak with one voice," he said, "it will only be because the component parts have thought out for themselves their own special problems and made their contribution to the discussion, so that a true common factor of policy can be reached. A sovereign people must, as part of its sovereign duty, take up its own attitude to world problems."

Mr. King expressed gratitude to the institute for the assistance it had rendered the government in administering foreign affairs. It had provided, he said, "that kind of support we are in a position of responsibility greatly need in these times."

There was more power in collective wisdom than in the wisdom of the individual, the Prime Minister said, and the addresses and papers delivered before the institute had been of great assistance to the Department of External Affairs, of which he is minister.

"No man in Canada knows better than myself the value of truthful presentation of facts," the Prime Minister said, "or the harm that can come from the wrong interpretation of international incidents."

Kindly interpretation instead of harsh comments, the Prime Minister said, would help those in positions of responsibility in meeting the problems arising from international incidents. He believed Canada was in a unique position to give leadership in presenting a true and just interpretation of world problems.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS

Others who spoke briefly were Chief Justice of Ontario Newton Wesley Rowell, past president of the institute; Sir Campbell Stewart of London, representing the Royal Institute on International Affairs; Walter H. Mallory of New York, representing the Council of Foreign Relations; L. M. Gouin, Montreal lawyer, and E. J. Starr, K.C., Winnipeg, new president of the institute.

More than 1,000 leading Canadian citizens are studying foreign affairs under the general auspices of the Canadian Institute, organized 10 years ago at a small gathering at the residence of the late Sir Robert Borden in Ottawa.

Valera to Name New Candidate

President Indicates He Has Man in View For Post

DUBLIN (AP)—President Eamon de Valera indicated today he was grooming a "mystery man" to run for President of the new Ireland contemplated in the constitution adopted last July.

The President apparently will not offer himself as a candidate. This construction was placed on a speech he delivered at a Fianna Fail party conference Tuesday night.

"We want a man who will be an honor to the country," Mr. de Valera said. "I know of such a man."

His cryptic statement left the public speculating on the identity of the dark horse candidate. Mr. de Valera, it was assumed, would continue in office as Premier.

The new constitution, approved in a plebiscite in the July elections, will become operative in December. The procedure has yet to be worked out for electing the President, who will be head of the state and hold many powers similar to those of the Governor-General.

In his speech Mr. de Valera urged the Free State to work for union with Northern Ireland.

"We must make clear in every possible way to our people throughout the world and to the British people that division of our country is not justified," he said.

The delegates were startled by an attack on the President by Mrs. Tom Clarke, ardent republican and widow of the Irish leader executed in 1916. She criticized Mr. de Valera's action in calling a session of Parliament to accept the abdication of King Edward VIII and acknowledge the accession of King George VI.

She declared there were indications "the government is no longer aiming at a republic."

NO MOVE ON ALBERTA BILLS

Denial Made British Government Plans to Interfere in Disallowance Debate

LONDON (CP)—The United Kingdom government has no intention of being drawn into the dispute provoked as a result of the disallowance by the Canadian government of three acts concerning banking passed by the Alberta legislature early in August.

Replying to a letter from the London Social Credit Secretariat Limited, asking him to receive a secretariat representative in order to discuss the present position in Alberta, Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, Secretary of State for the Dominions, declared the question at issue was a constitutional one relating to the respective powers of the federal parliament and the provincial legislature.

"In this question His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom have no locus standi and are not in a position to intervene," Mr. MacDonald wrote.

The exchange of correspondence was released to the press today by Major Clifford Douglas, head of the Social Credit movement. Commenting on the Dominions secretary's opinion, Major Douglas remarked:

"Since it is a prime axiom of British legislation that there could be no law without a sanction," Mr. MacDonald's pronouncement appears to involve a diplomatic repudiation of the British North America Act. Prime Minister Mackenzie King's action, therefore, would appear to be arbitrary and without legal justification."

U.S. Increases Sales to Canada

WASHINGTON (CP)—Imports from Canada to the United States decreased slightly during August, according to a Commerce Department report. United States trade with Canada for the month climbed sharply.

Imports from Canada totaled $33,438,000, compared with $36,191,000 in August last year. Exports to Canada stood at $47,553,000 and $31,522,000 in the respective months.

Both exports and imports from the United Kingdom were up, the report shows. Exports aggregated $42,395,000, compared with $33,223,000 for August, 1937, while imports from the United Kingdom totaled $15,902,000, against $15,344,000.

South Alberta Has Wet Fall

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Southern Alberta farmers and ranchers today believed the end of the drought years was at hand and that the restoration of the normal balance of moisture would follow as they surveyed fall weather reports.

This has been the wettest fall season for some years. In the first 11 days of October 1.29 inches of rain fell as against a 35-year average of .94 of an inch for the whole month.

New British War Insurance

Risks on Buildings Will Be Carried By Co-operative Company

LONDON (CP-Havas)—War risks on buildings in Great Britain will be covered through a new co-operative company organized by the Property Owners' Protective Association as a result of the recent decision of established insurance companies to refuse such risks. This was announced Tuesday.

Property valued up to £1,000,000 ($4,955,000,000) may be insured with the new company, called the Property Owners' War Risk Mutual Society Limited, according to E. M. Goldring, general manager of the firm, which has filed a request for registration with the Home Office.

FAIL TO BRIDGE GAP IN LABOR

DENVER, Col. (AP)—American Federation of Labor leaders, sustained by an overwhelming vote of confidence from member unions, stood committed today to rejection of any proposals for ending organized labor's civil war, which, in their opinion, were "dictated" by the rival Committee for Industrial Organization.

A C.I.O. proposal for a large "peace" conference was rejected scornfully as "insincere" by William Green, A.F. of L. president.

Green's declaration came Tuesday after he had studied a telegram from 32 unions of John L. Lewis's Committee for Industrial Organization, inviting the federation to send 100 peace negotiators to meet with a like group from the C.I.O.

"It does not impress me as being submitted in good faith," Green said.

NO MORE EFFORTS

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP)—The Committee for Industrial Organization indicated today the American Federation of Labor's refusal of an offer of reconciliation of C.I.O. terms ended the possibility of a united labor movement.

High C.I.O. leaders deferred comment on the refusal until their own conference here had formally expressed sentiment, but said privately they had made the only gesture they would or could to reunite the two organizations, which, pursuing opposite courses, seek better wages and working conditions for labor.

GUNMAN TELLS OF SLAYINGS

J. Dalhover, Held at Bangor, Me., Says Three Constables Killed

BANGOR, Me. (AP)—Captain Frank Foley of the Bangor police said today James Dalhover, wounded survivor of the G-men's ambush of the Al Brady-gang, had confessed the band had slain three policemen.

Captain Foley said he heard the sulky prisoner, during an all-night questioning, admit to agents of the United States Government the gang had killed Richard Rivers, an Indianapolis police sergeant; Paul Minneman, an Indiana state trooper, and a Freeport, Ohio, policeman named Conn.

Dalhover, his skull creased by a bullet, surrendered after a squad of federal sleuths had shot and killed Al Brady, John Dillinger's "successor," and the gang's youthful "triggerman," Clarence Lee Shaffer, 21, Tuesday in a dramatic five-minute gun battle on a Bangor street.

MACDONALD IN LONDON

LONDON (CP)—Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, back in London after a long holiday in Scotland, observed his 71st birthday Tuesday. Physicians have counselled the former Prime Minister against resuming work too early after his long period of poor health.

Judges' Wigs In London Stolen

LONDON (AP)—Loss of three wigs threatened the dignity of the law courts Tuesday on the opening of the Michaelmas term. Attendants searched fruitlessly. Finally three lord justices wore borrowed, misfitting wigs. It was reported later the judges' private rooms had been ransacked. One wig was valued at $105.

French-Jugoslav Treaty Renewed

Pact of Friendship Extended For Five Years; Signed at Paris

PARIS (AP)—France and Yugoslavia have renewed their treaty of friendship for another five years.

Yvon Delbos, French Foreign Minister, and Milan Stoyadinovich, Yugoslav Premier and Foreign Minister, signed the instruments at the Quai d'Orsay Tuesday.

The original treaty dates to 1927, and is one of the bases of France's complex system of alliances linking her with the Little Entente and other allies, both individually and through the League of Nations.

(Jugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Roumania are the Little Entente of Nations).

It provides, in event the security of the contracting parties and the existing international order are threatened, for military collaboration in "search for proper safeguards."

New Mine Plans Made in Yukon

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. August Wiegenselt, consulting engineer for Consolidated Mines of South Africa, said before leaving for San Francisco Tuesday that his company was preparing to spend $5,000,000 in the preliminary development of the Yukon as a gold-producing area.

Work on the area, which is around Carmack, extending from Altin to the old Klondike district, would probably be started next year, he said.

Agreement Sought In the Far East

Roosevelt Indicates U.S. Joins Talks to End War By Consent

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt's renewed plea for active steps to preserve peace was interpreted by many observers today as designed to quiet criticism that his policy of international co-operation might lead to war.

Declaring in his speech Tuesday night that the mere refusal to recognize war in other parts of the world does not guarantee United States "aloofness" from conflict, he said.

"In a world of mutual suspicions peace must be affirmatively reached for. It cannot just be wished for. It cannot be waited for."

Thus, the President prefaced a formal announcement of the United States' intention to participate in the forthcoming Nine-power Treaty conference on the Japanese-Chinese conflict.

He added significantly, recalling his service as wartime assistant secretary of the navy.

"Remember that from 1913 to 1921, I was fairly close to world events and in that period, while I learned much of that to do, I also learned much of what not to do."

To many observers, this appeared to be an expression of an intention to pursue a moderate course in foreign affairs.

CONGRESSMEN'S VIEWS

Some members of Congress, peace organizations and others had expressed concern after Mr. Roosevelt's Chicago speech last week that his determination to co-operate with other nations in peace endeavors might embroil the United States in foreign entanglements.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that the conference of signatories of the Nine-power Treaty, which recognizes China's territorial and administrative sovereignty, will seek a solution of the Far Eastern conflict "by agreement."

The United States government, he said, proposes to co-operate with all the treaty signatories, "including China and Japan," in its efforts to find the solution.

It was believed to foreshadow a determined effort by the con-

NUFFIELD OFFERS OXFORD £1,300,000

LONDON (CP)—Lord Nuffield Tuesday offered £1,000,000 (about $4,950,000) to Oxford University for construction of a college of social studies.

The wealthy automobile manufacturer at the same time offered a £100,000 site for the proposed college, as well as £200,000 additional endowment for medical research at Oxford.

He declared he hoped the new college would "produce a flow of recruits to industry."

He gave £300,000 to the Radcliffe Infirmary at Oxford October 9, while his total philanthropic gifts for the past few years are estimated at close to £9,000,000.

EDEN IN NEW PEACE PLEDGE

British Foreign Secretary Greets American Legion Tourists in London

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Great Britain and the United States will strive for peace with the same courage they showed on Great War battle fronts, Foreign Secretary Eden declared at a reception in honor of visiting members of the American Legion at Westminster Hall Tuesday.

"We will work unrelentingly for peace and understanding among nations," he said. "Neither doubt, nor difficulty, nor hardship caused you at Chateau Thierry or us at Ypres to despair. We will therefore not lose heart in working for peace, and will strive to be true in word and deed to the memory of those who are present in our thoughts today."

Indicting the Japanese

JAPAN DURING THE LAST TWO DAYS resumed her bombing of Chinese cities, killing many more noncombatants. It is impossible for us to read of these airplane raids on civilians, most of the victims being women, children, the feeble and the old, without a feeling of sharp indignation. But it is important for all of us to be sure our indignation is directed at the right people.

Japan, of course, is doing the bombing. But what do we mean by "Japan"? Do we mean the Japanese government, the Japanese army, authorities or the entire Japanese people?

In ordinary times we like the Japanese. They seem to be a courteous and a kindly people. Travelers, as our alderman, W. T. Strath, M.P.P., who has just returned from the Orient, invariably describe Japan as a pleasant and hospitable country. Has this war changed them into a race of sadistic monsters who exult in the bombing of helpless civilians and the maiming of women and children?

A clue to this riddle is provided by a recent story from the Tokio correspondent of The New York Herald-Tribune. This writer points out that the Japanese public is baffled by the wave of foreign indignation over the bombing raids.

For the Japanese people have not been told about the bombing of noncombatants. Their government has assured them that Japanese planes have attacked none but strictly military objectives. Not once has it even hinted that civilians have been killed by Japanese bombs. It has declared that ample warning has invariably been given to enable civilians to get out of danger, and it has insisted that Japanese aviators have risked their lives by flying low when dropping bombs so that they could be certain they would not hit the noncombatants.

Naturally enough, the Japanese people have believed all this. As far as they know, their airplanes have been scrupulous in observing the rules of civilized warfare. So, just as naturally, they cannot understand why public opinion in other countries is so enraged.

To be aware of this condition, will help us to direct our indignation at the right target. For another thing, it will help us to an understanding of the essentially inhuman nature of modern warfare.

The Japanese are very much like everybody else in the human fundamentals. No nation as a whole is likely to approve the killing of children or the bombing of homes. People are not that cruel. Yet children will be killed and homes will be bombed in every modern war. Why? Because the people at war will not know what their own governments are doing. Modern war is, above all, ruthless. It has to be that way. Military leaders will use "frightfulness" because they fear they will lose if they do not.

Unfit To Drive

SAFETY ORGANIZATIONS HAVE pointed out before now, that a comparatively small group of automobile drivers is responsible for most of the accidents; that there are people who simply are not fit to drive cars, and who must be restrained or barred from the road if the traffic toll is ever to be reduced.

A recent case in Toledo illustrates the point. A young man was arrested after having run down and killed a pedestrian. Released on bond, he continued to drive—and 16 days after the fatal accident was arrested for driving at 67 miles an hour on city streets.

Such a man obviously has no business touching a steering wheel. How any man, with a fatal accident fresh on his conscience, could go out and travel at such a breakneck speed through city traffic, must be incomprehensible to all ordinary motorists. Until we find some way of keeping such people off the road for life, our traffic will continue to be dangerous.

"Democracy" In Brazil

BRAZIL HAS BEEN DECLARED IN A "state of war." That is, the Brazilian Constitution has been suspended, the army is in control and President Getulio Vargas is dictator in fact.

Thus Brazil becomes one of six Latin American countries which have substituted dictatorship for democracy. The reason for this dictatorship, of course, is "Communism." But investigation discloses that the extent of "Communism" in Brazil has been exaggerated for an eight-hour day, old-age pensions, unemployment insurance, a minimum-wage law—all reforms which President Vargas promised when he first ran for office.

It is interesting to observe the "success" of the Brazilian Constitution, which is just three years old. This is the second time that Constitution has been suspended. During its three years of existence it has been on the shelf more of the time than it has been in effect.

Germany's Visitors

THE DUKE AND DUCHESS OF WIND- sor are rubbing shoulders with the High Priests of Nazidom in Berlin. The former British King has been greeted with "Heil Edward!" He has been through a machine plant, talked with the workers about wages, broke bread with them, and generally made himself a good fellow. His wife has looked into the operation of a Nazi welfare society's clothing department, curious to know how the workers made the garments they are turning out by the thousands fitted the wearers. Edward, by the way, has been loaned Reichsfuehrer Hitler's up-to-date motor trailer. As the visitors are to remain in Berlin a few days no doubt there will be "doings" somewhat more colorful than those reported before farewells are exchanged.

Certain officials in London are apparently wondering why the former King Edward VIII should have chosen this time, with the governments of Britain and Germany at variance on several questions of international policy, to visit the Nazi capital. The report has it that they would feel more at ease had Windsor not projected himself into this particular limelight by personal contact with the reactionary forces in the Nazi realm. In the absence of any official statement from Downing Street, however, we are not permitted to learn what the government thinks about this visit to Berlin or the proposed visit of the Duke and Duchess to the United States next month.

When Edward the Eighth abdicated last December and left his country the official hope was that he would retire into obscurity—a wish patently father to the thought. But it is only natural he should think it too early in his experience of exile to cease to be "news." In spite of his changed station in life, therefore, his comings and goings will not be overlooked by the ubiquitous newsgatherers of the world. He might escape them, perhaps, in the solitudes of Tibet or in the southern seas. But what he says and does during his stay in Germany and on the occasion of his sojourn in the United States will determine the extent to which he will be "noticed" by the press.

While the Duke is under no official restraint, it may be taken for granted that he will be just as circumspect as if these visits were being made under more happy auspices. His loyalty to his homeland surely is not less fervent now than it was before the tragic affair of last December. Needless to say, however, the atmosphere in which he will be able to move in the United States may give him considerable freedom to discuss subjects of common interest to the Empire and to the great English-speaking Republic—as the Duke of Windsor, a private citizen.

After all is said and done, there seems nothing in these visits of the newly-weds to cause alarm either in London, or Berlin, and certainly not in Washington. Nor is there anything to prevent the former King traveling whither he will while there is no decree against it. There is no ban on his return to his native land. And it is not difficult to understand the reason why he wants to be more or less on the move all the time. His love for his own country and all that it means to him will not die. He is obviously feeling the stiff price which self-imposed exile is exacting.

Notes

It is not what we have or lack that makes us happy or unhappy, but what we think about it.

The chief enemies of deserving veterans and deserving poor are the undeserving who pose as some of them.

Going on the general experience that the only way to cure a vice is to make it expensive, perhaps the bombing of civilians will eventually end war.

Reading some London papers we conclude some of the people over there have decided they despise Edward for quitting, but admire Baldwin for forcing him out.

Japan, says a Tokio foreign office spokesman, is going to fight in China to the bitter end. From the West's experience in wars, he might have added that if the end does not come soon it is apt to be a good deal more bitter than the Japanese high command expected.

POLITICAL PARALLEL

Jay Franklin, Washington Columnist President Roosevelt's speech at Chicago contains a statement of the diplomacy of democracy which will be overlooked by those who rush to acclaim it as a challenge to Fascist aggression and as a warning that patience is becoming exhausted by the bloody record of international assassination as practiced by Italy, Germany and Japan.

The liberal revolutions of the last 150 years have claimed and have been granted their justification in the rigidity of a privileged society in which opportunity and advancement were accorded or denied on the basis of birth or social status, and in which talent or genius could find no outlet. What liberals condemn in the totalitarian societies developed under dictatorship in Russia, Germany, Italy and Japan is the reappearance of the same unlovely rigidities which the British, French and American democracies have striven to destroy.

At the same time, however, these three democracies have developed a blind spot when it came to international relations. The sort of world society which they have supported since the World War is, to Fascist nations, just as rigid and arbitrary as the aristocratic societies which our democratic forefathers combated for a century and we are still combating. Reaction in domestic politics has, in practice, been overcome by revolution. In foreign politics, the remedy for reaction is war. In both cases, an underprivileged minority resorts to aggression in an effort to win economic and social opportunity.

UNBROKEN RECORD

IT IS A PLEASURE to be able to announce that the most remarkable record in the history of angling still stands. I mean, lots of fellows have gone to Cowichan Bay in the middle of the salmon run and failed to catch one. They may have done it two years in succession, or even three. But the record which I established over the week-end is unique in all history. I have been to Cowichan Bay 10 years in succession now without a single bite.

Mind you, I give the Bay every chance. I am sporting about it. I fish with the best tackle and with the best experts to supervise the whole thing. A true sportsman, I give the Bay every opportunity to beat me, but I always emerge victorious now matter how many fish everybody else may catch. Never once have I faltered. I had a narrow escape, it is true, the time something got on my line two seasons ago. I tell you it gave me a turn. I thought the record was gone for a moment, but it turned out to be a dog fish.

I think a 10-year record is imperishable, beyond all danger of being equalled. But you never know. There may be other skillful fishermen about. I shall not rest on my laurels. I shall go out again in 1938 and hang up an 11-year record which posterity can never challenge.

ECONOMIC FACTORS

THEY TELL me that the gentry over in Vancouver who promote mining stocks in British Columbia are deeply discouraged by the present condition of the market. They say the market is sour and you can't put any life into it. They have scientific reasons for this. They have analyzed the situation and considered all the factors and trends. They have blamed it on the New York market and the reported recession of fall business and certain cyclical phenomena well known to economists.

The layman cannot understand these mysterious things. In his ignorance he probably imagines right now that the reason the B.C. mining stock market is so sour is that people won't put their money into it. The layman will probably imagine, poor stupid fellow, that the reason people won't put their money into B.C. mines is that they have already lost all the money that have to spare in them.

And perhaps he will think, if he is of a vindictive sort, that the promoters who are now bawling the public's indifference and their own lack of prosperity, have themselves to blame for the whole thing. After all the worthless promotions they have unloaded on the public, they should be a little patient and wait for a new crop of suckers to grow up. That may take time, possibly some years, but you may be sure that it is growing somewhere and will be ripe for the cutting at the proper season. Meanwhile legitimate promotions suffer unjustly from the effects of a bad general reputation.

WE KNOW TOO MUCH

ONE KNEW today for certain that the autumn had arrived by Mrs. Noggins' hat. She had changed from the one with the blue forget-me-nots to the one with the red chrysanthemums, a more certain portent of the seasons in these parts than any calendar or calculation of the weather bureau. It was some time since I had seen her—she had been visiting a cousin in Seattle, "a terrible town, you know, full of Americans and all like that"—and I observed that she appeared a little less cheerful than usual.

"Well," she said, "I bin readin' in the papers again, you know (though I must say the garbage the Bogs 'as bin sendin' over in the papers is very poor lately on account of them losin' so much on the races, you know, at the Fall Fair), and I seen there as the stock market is down agin. They way I read it, there's bin a recession in business."

"Why bless you, nobody 'round 'ere 'as got any stocks and nobody knew what a recession meant 10 year ago. Nobody cared what the stock market did. Nobody 'ad ever 'eard of business indexes and statistics and all like that. We jest went on raisin' eggs and sellin' milk and we got along, we got along. But now, bless you, when the paper says the stock market 'as dropped a couple of dollars, why the whole neighbor'ood is in a panic. Pudbury, 'e's bin lookin' mighty blue since 'e 'eard there was a business recession, an' 'e's fixin' up 'is old car and 'e ain't goin' to buy a new one like he figgered. Mindful 'e's 'ad a good year, Pudbury 'as, but 'e don't like the look of the market and the indexes (though I dare say 'e don't know wot a index is), and Beak ain't painted his 'ouse like 'e figgered, and you'd 'ardly believe it, but my clients ain't buyin' so many heggs heither. They seen the indexes and they're puttin' one less egg in every cake."

"People is too ejaucated, that's the trouble, and the professors 'as got 'em down. Why, when I was a girl nobody 'ad 'eard of indexes and all like that. The only index of 'ard times we ever knew was when we 'ad to wear the same coat four winters instead of three. When times was good maybe I'd get my oldest sister's dress, cut down direct. When they was bad, the dress'd 'ave to go to my second sister and maybe the third afore I got it. Why bless you, I never knew wot it was to 'ave a new dress direct till I was 18, or first admission to a bathtub either. We got along fine, though we didn't know anything. Now we know everything and wot 'appens? Soon as some fella sells 'is stock for a little less in New York or some professor makes a speech or some index drops a quarter of a cent, people out 'ere in Saanich start eatin' cakes without enough heggs in 'em. We was 'appier when we didn't know so much bocus all we ever learn these days is bad news. People would be better with less news and more heggs."

Ottawa Analyses Hepburn Victory

(By NORMAN M. MACLEOD)

PARLIAMENT HILL might have been a noted citadel of philosophy rather than the political capital of the nation, so calm was its reaction to the overwhelming Ontario victory of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn.

There was no outward demonstration, whatever. The Liberals had expected the result, and they were quietly satisfied. Conservative circles were probably disappointed, but they did not show it. Long experience in the school of adversity has trained the Tory gladiators to be past masters of the art of concealing their feelings.

From the standpoint of national issues, Ottawa regards the victory of Mr. Hepburn as having at least one major effect. The St. Lawrence seaway project, it is now conceded, is dead—for five years, at least.

What were the factors which contributed principally to the result? As federal observers view them—ignoring local situations which influenced the results in individual ridings—they are seven in number. Listed as respectively the advantages enjoyed by Mr. Hepburn and the handicaps under which Mr. Rowe labored, rather than in the order of their importance, they are:

- (1) The government's excellent financial record, with lower taxes and a balanced budget standing as actual achievements, not promises.
- (2) General approval of Premier Hepburn's militant anti-C.I.O. stand.
- (3) The lure of his promise—particularly effective on the back concessions—to collect from $50,000,000 to $70,000,000 more from the estates of the wealthy of the province.
- (4) Conservative failure to capture the "dry" vote as a political unit in its support.
- (5) Conservative failure to capitalize sufficiently the party's stand on the Separate School issue—a failure presumably due to consideration for the several prominent Roman Catholic candidates whom the party had in the field.
- (6) The association of too many of "the old gang" with Mr. Rowe's campaign.
- (7) The fact that Mr. Rowe had virtually no press behind him.

THE IMPARTIAL view of Parliament Hill is that the verdict, so far as it was an approval of the administration's record, was a fair one. Mr. Hepburn is conceded to have given efficient and economical government, to have balanced the province's budget, and to have lowered taxes. The natural response of the citizenship to these services, federal circles agree, might reasonably be the second term that the government received.

The C.I.O. issue is not viewed in similar light. The federal view is that it was a "manufactured" issue devised for the exigencies of an election. The federal opinion, moreover, is that it exerted little influence on the result, but was overshadowed by the Hepburn ministry's solid achievements in the administrative field.

From the standpoint of Mr. Rowe, the chief error which is attributed to the Conservative campaign is the manner in which the so-called "old gang" returned to dominate it. The presence on the platform of the new leader who was to have been the new broom in provincial Conservatism of such figures as James Lyons of Sault Ste. Marie, "Alf" Maquire of Toronto, and former ministers of the discredited Henry regime, was not helpful. The result in Toronto, where the Conservatives not only failed to retrieve their losses of 1934, but even lost additional seats traditionally listed as Tory strongholds, is attributed wholly to the fact that the party organization there was in the hands of the same shopworn politicians who were repudiated by the voters in 1934, and refused to take their dismissal as absolute.

THE HANDICAP under which Mr. Rowe labored in the lack of a supporting press is also assigned a major place in Federal observations upon his defeat. The Conservative Leader had only the Ottawa Journal solidly supporting him—and its attitude only became at all militant in the last ten days of the campaign. The result was evident, however, in the holding of South Ottawa—a seat which had been regarded as irretrievably lost owing to internal Conservative difficulties—and in the relative success in the Eastern Ontario ridings which the Journal's circulation reaches, notably Carleton, Granville-Dundas, Leeds and Lanark—while the party just fell short of victory in North Renfrew.

In the other metropolitan centres of the province, however, notably Toronto, Mr. Rowe did not have a paper actively espousing his cause. The closest approach was the neutrality of the Toronto Star. The result, in

GOOD DRIVERS, TOO

From Peterborough Examiner

So much is written and spoken about careless driving that it is time a word was spoken on behalf of the good drivers on our streets and highways. We are certain as can be that the set-up is prepared for many accidents which never take place, and they do not take place because we have good drivers who use their wits and their eyes and all their senses all the time they are on the road.

A good deal of credit and consideration is due them. Nothing much is heard of these people and for that reason we are trying to voice appreciation.

NO MERCY IN WAR

To the Editor:—At different times I have seen letters in your editorial page from Mr. Hartnell concerning the Spanish civil war. In one of his letters he mentioned about the killings of bishops, priests and nuns, by the Spanish government forces.

Probably those bishops, priests and nuns were pulling for Mussolini. In regard to that, if they did do so, let us remember that there is no mercy for the other side in time of war. Spies if caught always receive just what they very well deserve in time of war.

view of the political observers of the Capital, suggests strongly that before the Conservative Party can hope to regain its supremacy in the province, it will have to establish an organ to take the place of the old Toronto Mail and Empire.

Speculation centres upon Mr. Rowe's future, in view of his personal defeat in Simcoe-Centre. There are the inevitable suggestions of his retirement and of a new provincial chieftain being chosen. In these reports the name of Leslie Frost, who re-declared the riding of Victoria, where the previous Liberal majority had been over 2,600 is prominently mentioned.

Federal circles, however, are inclined to scout the rumors of Mr. Rowe's retirement. Fairness demands, it is generally held, that a new Leader should be given more than one chance before being condemned, and the fact that the Conservative group has increased from 17 to 23 is looked upon as a circumstance which was against him. The belief on Parliament Hill is that a seat in the legislature should be found for Mr. Rowe. Various constituencies in which the government might accord him an acclamation are suggested. Among them are East York, where Hon. G. S. Henry was re-elected, East Hastings, which returned Dr. Harold Welsh for a second time, and Lanark, which preserved its unbroken tradition of Conservatism by electing G. H. Doucett.

FOR PROGRESSIVE DEMOCRACY

To the Editor:—Sir Frederick Pascoe Rutter in his address to the shareholders of the London and Lancashire Insurance Company in England, this year, said, as quoted by the London Times: "What used to be known as 'Socialism' and what is now recognized as the march of democracy..." and Sir Frederick is not a young man. He is, I believe, a very old man.

Progressive democracy is what we need and not Fascism or Communism. In fact, the inherent common sense of the British would never submit for one moment to either of these "isms." If we, as Britons wish to assure a progressively democratic government, we must decide what system is most in accord with progressive democracy. We cannot decide this by reading biased articles or letters. We must get down to business and read the explanation of the different systems suggested, as laid down by authors of these suggestions. As much hope of understanding our present financial system with its

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pines, pour it into a 10-oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for bad winter coughs. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you four times as much cough remedy for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is a very effective, dependable, quick-acting cough remedy for the whole family. Quickly, you feel its penetrating effect in the air passages. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membrane and makes breathing easy. You'll be more than delighted with its quick effect in clearing up bad coughs.

Pines is a compound containing Norway Pine, in concentrated form, a well known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Would Guard Cascara Tree

Women's Council Afraid Of Its Extinction

A plea to the provincial government for protection of the cascara tree which grows on the west coast, the only place in the British Empire where it is now to be found, was made in a resolution passed by the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon at its meeting in the Y.W.C.A.

Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie, in speaking to the resolution, declared that the ruthless stripping of the bark for commercial purposes had been carried out to such an extent that this valuable tree, used largely for medicinal purposes, was threatened with extinction. Careful stripping, so that portions of the bark are left, gives the tree a chance to rehabilitate itself, and it was urged that the government undertake some control to prevent the complete extinction of the tree.

The work of the National Unemployment Committee was endorsed by the Council and its findings commended, as a progressive step toward the solution of this great problem; Mrs. C. C. Spofford, provincial president, expressing the view that the commission was fortunate in having as its chairman Mr. Arthur B. Purvis, an industrialist of wide experience.

Resolutions which are to be brought before the Provincial Council at its meeting about November 25 were considered yesterday afternoon. These dealt with such subjects as the segregation and care of feeble-minded, and the matter of special classes for subnormal children; the re-establishment of the Home Economics chair at the University of British Columbia; the holding of criminal assault cases in camera, instead of in open court; and the extension of mothers' pensions.

CHILD'S IRRITATING USE OF WORD "WHAT?" IS NATURAL DEFENSE

If there is one response which any adult can almost certainly expect from a small child when a question is asked, it is that irritating word, "What?" No matter how carefully a request is couched, no matter how loud one's comment, the inevitable retort is "What?" accompanied by a vague glance.

"What?" is a weapon and a refuge. There is seldom the least indication of defiance. The child heard the first time. But by hiding behind this convenient barrier the child can decide in what way to answer. If some physical activity would be demanded the child wastes a little more time before shaking a leg. If the adult has posed a question which needs answering the child uses the word as a means of putting off the moment when some definite answer must be given.

"Why?" has its uses, also. Mothers are conscientious about cooking up plausible and reasonable and informative answers to that innocent query. They feel it a delight and a duty to answer the child fully and honestly. Sometimes they are wasting their time. The child doesn't say either, "Why or What?" because he wants information.

He wants to have more time to think, he wants to be saved the immediate necessity to act, he wants—with many of his whys—to keep on attracting and holding the parent's attention. So long as she answers his questions, he is occupied. He can go on thinking and doing as he pleases with the attractive accompaniment of his mother's warm and interested voice.

To get the child's attention first, to fix your eyes upon his so that you know he is listening and then to utter one's request or comment in a voice that can be heard, is one way to ward off the useless and irritating "What?" Then act as if the child has heard and the chances are he will find his interrogative a useless nuisance.

When the word "why" is obviously a means of harnessing parental attention, turn it back to the child. "You tell me," punctures those silly questions for which there is no answer, and the child knows it.

Answering the Child's Questions About Sex is a leaflet designed to help the mother with this frequent poser. It may be had for a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope sent with your request for the leaflet by name to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS

The latter resolution, which emanated from Nanaimo Local Council, asked that, as the education system now permits a child to remain at school until 18 years of age, the mothers' pension be extended to cover that period, also that the privilege of mothers' pensions be restored to all mothers with one child.

The gathering did not endorse this resolution, on the ground that such measures would involve too great a financial burden on the taxpayers.

Dr. Nadine Kavinoky, internationally-known scientist and educationist of Los Angeles, will be asked to speak here at the end of November, when she will give a week's series of lectures on "Sex and Living" in Vancouver.

Miss Lena Mess was asked to make the necessary arrangements for the lecture here.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Mrs. Alfred Carmichael gave an interesting report of the findings of the special committee appointed some months ago under the Council of Social Agencies to investigate the question of vocational training for young people.

The lack of interest shown by the young people in the many facilities now offered for vocational training was deplored, and she called attention to the public meeting to be held in the Junior High School on Thursday evening when Alan Chambers will speak on "Youth and Unemployment."

Mrs. Alan Campbell reported for the League of Nations Society, referring to the loss sustained in the departure of Dean Quinton. She touched upon the various issues at stake in the world today, and reminded members that November 8 to 14 would be observed as "Peace Week."

Mrs. H. P. Hodges was asked by the meeting to give, at the November meeting of the council, her address on "What Women Have Accomplished for Peace."

The council received a gracious letter of thanks from the White House, Washington, acknowledging the beautiful bouquet and greetings sent by the council to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt on the occasion of her recent visit here.

Mrs. Spofford, who is to visit the Nanaimo Local Council next Monday, was asked to convey greetings from Victoria Council.

The meeting paid standing tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas, a valued member, convener of the standing committee on cinema and printed matter.

Moore, B.Sc., M.D., D.N.B., son of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Moore of Toronto, the bride wore a gown of lustrous satin of classic simplicity, and her attendants, Mrs. Royden Morris of Victoria and Miss Elizabeth Arkell were gowned alike in autumn colors, inges, their yellow chiffon gowns shaded to russet-rose. Rust-colored velvet was twisted to form off-the-face turbans with net crowns, and arm bouquets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, blending with the gowns, were carried. They wore gold neckties set with garnets, the gift of the groom.

In compliment to Miss Gwendolyn Addison, whose marriage to Mr. Harry Williams will take place on Saturday, an enamelware shower was held yesterday evening by her co-workers in the Royal Dairy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Demonstrate Scientific Support

Mrs. D. A. Young Of Toronto Gives Lecture For Women

A dramatic scientific exhibit designed to increase woman's knowledge of her physical self—and to demonstrate the truth that external beauty depends largely upon internal order—was given before an interested audience of women at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon by Mrs. D. A. Young of Toronto.

Speaking under the auspices of David Spencer Limited, Mrs. Young took as her subject, "Health and Beauty Through Scientific Support." One of her notable comments was: "You can't look your best or feel your best with faulty body mechanics—and your whole body framework depends on posture." You can consider the body posture correct, if when standing, a vertical line from the ear would pass through the shoulder, hip and ankle.

"Although many people wear camp surgical supports under a doctor's prescriptions—you don't need to be a 'prescription case' to wear one," she continued. "Many women want the additional back support and comfort of a scientifically-designed garment for general wear—and there are special supports designed for just such people."

Moving pictures illustrated the various points brought up by Mrs. Young in her lecture, and were grouped under three general headings. At the close of the lecture Mrs. Young demonstrated the correct fitting of surgical supports on living models.

Mrs. Young is a keenly interested speaker and thoroughly well-informed on her subject. She attended the Medical School of Toronto University for a number of years, and has years of practical experience in surgical fittings behind her.

Her lecture on "Health and Beauty" will be repeated tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 in the Chamber of Commerce Hall.

MEN LOVE PEPPY GIRLS

If you are happy and peppy and full of fun, men will take you places. If you are dreary, they will invite you to dance and party.

BUT, if you are cross and lifeless and always tired out, men won't be interested in you. Men don't like "sullen" girls. Men go to parties to enjoy themselves. They want girls along who are full of pep.

For three generations one woman has sold another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in their lives. Such as: 1. Stomaching from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching middle age.

Don't be a three-quarter wife. Take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

RECENT WEDDINGS

LAWLESS-MURRAY

At 4 p.m., Thanksgiving Day, Calgary Baptist Church, Chehalis, was the scene of a pretty wedding when Dorothy Edith, youngest daughter of the late Dr. W. Murray and Mrs. Murray, Chemainus, became the bride of Bernard John Lawless, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lawless of Duncan. Rev. E. M. Cook performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Walter Murray. She wore an ensemble of russet silk crepe with hat and matching accessories, and corsage bouquet of pink and cream roses.

Miss Josephine Murray, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid in an ensemble of green silk crepe and ensemble of deep red roses. Kelly Lawless was his brother's best man.

The bridal party stood under a floral arch from which was suspended a large white wedding bell.

Mr. Harry Dralney played the wedding marches and accompanied Mr. H. Dobinson, who sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, where the happy couple stood under a floral arch of Michaelmas daisies and bronze chrysanthemums to receive the congratulations of their many friends.

The bride's mother in a gown of black and silver and black hat, and groom's mother in a gown of black helped to receive. They wore corsages of red roses.

A buffet luncheon was served, the bride's table being covered by an embroidered banquet cloth made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Robertson, who is 80 years of age. The table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake, vases of flowers and silver candle holders with white tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawless left by motor for the honeymoon in the United States. On their return they will live in Duncan.

ARD-BORROWMAN

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria West, was prettily decorated with autumn flowers and foliage on Saturday evening for the wedding of Elizabeth Emma, younger daughter of Mrs. Borrowman, 2510 Rock Bay Avenue, and the late Mr. A. R. Borrowman, and Mr. George Russell Ard, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ard, 1738 Lee Avenue.

Rev. James Hyde performed the ceremony and Mr. Fred Arnot played the wedding marches. While the register was being signed, Miss B. Schwarz sang "Because."

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Jack Borrowman, and wore a pretty frock of forget-me-not blue lace and a poke bonnet with pink satin streamers, and carried a colonial posy of pink and blue flowers. Mrs. H. C. Bourne, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor, in a frock of coral lace with brown accessories, and carried a sheaf of bronze chrysanthemums. Mr. Bourne attended the bridegroom.

After the ceremony a reception for relatives and intimate friends was held at the home of the bride's mother, the rooms being attractively arranged with autumn flowers in gay colorings. Mr. and Mrs. Ard will make their home in Victoria.

PEARCE-RICHARDSON

A quiet wedding took place on October 7 at St. John's Church, between Muriel Mary Louise, second daughter of Mr. A. Richardson and the late Mrs. Jessie Richardson, and Henry Antony Pearce, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pearce, Brentwood Bay. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick.

The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip in the United States. On their return they will reside at Brentwood Bay.

SMITH-HUTSON

On Saturday evening at 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stevens, Chemainus, Kathleen M. Hutson, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Hutson, Vancouver, became the bride of Eustace H. Smith, second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith, Vancouver. Rev. E. M. Cook was the officiating minister.

The bride entered the room on the arm of her brother, Ernest Hutson of Victoria, who gave her in marriage. She wore an ensemble of navy silk crepe, with hat, veil and accessories in suite. Her corsage bouquet was pink carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Doris Hutson, in wine-colored embroidered silk crepe and matching accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Smith left by motor to spend their honeymoon in Victoria, and will later make their home in Vancouver.

Esquimalt faces the last three months of the year with a fairly comfortable financial outlook, it is indicated in the auditors' statement of receipts and disbursements to September 30, submitted to the municipal council last night.

The municipality ended the first nine months of the year with $31,945.41 in cash on hand, and with receipts already some $10,000 ahead of the estimate for the whole year.

Collections of general taxes at September 30 were already $186 ahead of the estimate for the whole year, and sewer rate and rental collections had also passed the computed figure.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"I'm afraid if my business gets much better my wife will make me retire again."

ANDREW and IMOGENE

By ROE FULKERSON

"Why the wrinkles on that alabaster brow?" asked Andrew, smiling.

"I am worried about money!" said Imogene thoughtfully.

"Don't let that make a wash-board out of your forehead!" laughed Andrew. "If every one who worried about money had wrinkles in his forehead, there wouldn't be a smooth brow in the world."

"I had five dollars—"

"I'm in good condition!" sang Andrew.

"I went down town this morning," said Imogene sternly, "and when I started out, I put a five dollar bill in my purse. When I came home, I had only six pennies, and I have been trying ever since to figure out what I did with the money."

"Retrace your steps and try to think what you spent in each place," he suggested.

"First, I went to the department store to get some elastic to go on the ballet slippers the baby wears for her dancing lessons. Of course they aren't teaching her to dance on her toes yet. She is so young that that would ruin her legs. But you should see what beautiful bar work she does, Andrew. She is as graceful as—"

"How much did that cost?" asked Andrew, pencil in hand.

"Oh, they charge only a dollar a lesson because she is so small. I don't think that is too much, do you?"

"No! But what did you pay for the elastic?"

"Ten cents a yard, and I bought only one yard. Then I went to the china and glassware department to see those electric coffee makers which are two glass bulbs which meet in the middle, and you can make the coffee right on the table where every one can smell it, but I didn't buy one because Sally has one, and she would tell every one that I got the idea from her, and goodness knows I would never deliberately do anything Sally does. Then I bought a pair of mules and—"

"Are we going into the truck- ing business?" demanded Andrew.

"Nonsense. Trucking was never popular anyway," said Imogene scornfully. "It was just a dance the colored people did, and no one ever took it seriously. One can't dance in mules anyway. Then, after I had paid for the mules—"

"How much?" he demanded.

"Two dollars and 98 cents. They match that pretty negligee you brought me from Indianapolis, and I know you will like them. They were having a special end-of-the-summer sale of hats, and we may go to Florida this winter, so I bought a nice sport hat with a feather in the band, and it cost a dollar ninety-eight."

"Then I went to the hosiery department and got six pairs of 88-cent stockings. I have almost ruined my stockings this summer in the country. The brambles are always catching on them and starting runners."

"Then I went to a movie and that cost 40 cents, and after I came out, I went in to Hamble's to get a soda and ran into Jane at the candy counter. I asked her to have a soda with me, and she told me about June's baby having measles, of all things, when there isn't another case of measles in town. Then—"

"How much were the sodas?"

"Thirty cents, I suppose, but I don't remember which one of us paid for them. That's where I got mixed up on the money, I think. If I could remember who paid for the sodas, I might be able to figure out my five dollars."

"Maybe so!" laughed Andrew. "But you had spent 10 dollars and 74 cents before you got the sodas!"

"That accounts for the pennies, I suppose. I mean the 74 cents," said Imogene happily.

"But how could you spend 10 dollars and 74 cents out of five dollars?"

"I had some change, of course, silly!" said Imogene.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily, if this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just stays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel weak, sick and the world looks pink.

A more blood movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes them good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a colon but have no colon or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else like

CALLING ALL DOGS

By ALBERT PAXSON TERHUNE

"The Merciful Muzzie" Again

Sometime ago, I recommended the use of merciful muzzles for dogs, instead of the straps which clamp their mouths shut and which won't let them drink nor pant nor yawn. I must have expressed myself more clumsily than usual. For, more than 20 of you have written me in the belief that "merciful" is the trade name of some special kind of muzzle, and asking me if I had any of them on sale.

I don't sell muzzles or anything else. And I used the term, "merciful," to define any of the several kinds of inexpensive muzzles which are not painful to their wearers and which allow them to drink and to open and shut their mouths at will. Most of these are equipped with wire nose-pieces whose hinges open at the slightest pressure of the jaws. The wire bars at the front prevent the dog from biting.

I have bought merciful muzzles of four or five different makes and patterns, at moderate prices, from ordinary hardware shops. I have seen them on sale, at much higher price, if of no better quality, in fashionable sporting-goods stores.

If the law compels your dog to wear a muzzle, buy him one which does not torture him. By use of a little patience just at first, you can teach him to wear it without discomfort.

Two Sentenced For Pit-lamping

NANAIMO—Pleading guilty to having in their possession, at 3:30 a.m. Sunday, carbide headlamps lighted and guns and shells in a district where game is found, John Moore and Leonard Noble were each sentenced to 90 days in jail by Magistrate Beavor-Potts in Provincial Police Court yesterday.

T. P. Morton, counsel for both men, explained they were traveling to the summit of Mount Benson, expecting to reach it by daylight to hunt deer there.

"This thing has to be stopped," Magistrate Beavor-Potts declared. "The penalty for breaking the law is put there for that purpose. It is a cowardly way to hunt," he concluded.

May Use Women Fliers in War

NEW YORK (CP)—Great Britain will probably use women fliers if there is another war, Lady Drummond Hay, noted aviatrix, said yesterday as she arrived for a lecture tour.

"The last time I renewed my flying license my entire history was taken," she said. "There is no doubt England intends to use women fliers, probably as dispatch carriers and on air transports."

STORIES IN STAMPS

POET OF THE PIANO

Shy, scholarly, already an artist of the keyboard at 20, Frederic Chopin was invited to play at the Imperial Theatre of Vienna in 1829. He accepted and then at the last moment he found that the great orchestra had been unable to decipher his "Variations."

Young Chopin rose to the occasion. He improvised an entire programme! The artists and the critics and the public were amazed. Such strange, stirring music had never been heard before in Vienna. And when the young musician left the city he was escorted by thousands to his coach. On that event he launched his meteoric career.

His first concert in Warsaw swept his audience off their feet. He journeyed to Paris; triumph greeted him again. Fast the word spread that here was the greatest composer in Poland's history. Chopin spent his greatest years in Paris. Here he found the love of the novelist "George Sand."

And here he found disappointment in that same love. But his genius continued to flower, productive of such masterpieces as the "Barcarolle," "Fantasies" and his "Cradle Song." Always physically weak, however, the composer broke down under the strain of his duties and died at the age of 40. Chopin is pictured on a 1927 issue.

6 YEARS OLD
(A true story)

One of our customers said recently, "Why don't you tell parents that the way to please their children is to let them open a savings account themselves? My little daughter aged six, came to her mother the other day, and said she wanted to go to the bank herself and open an account. Her mother, being wise, called up the Bank Manager, told him the story, and said that her small girl would be in to see him soon... Sure enough, in came the child, clutching a little purse. Signed her name four times [which she told her mother afterwards was foolish] and got her bank book. Did it all herself."

That young lady has the right idea. She regards the bank as HER bank. You can make it yours.

A Chess Match And Nazi Deceits Against Critics

By JOHN McDERMOTT

I RAN ACROSS a story of a chess match which took place in Germany which I believe will be of deep interest to your readers, and perhaps go so far as to carry suggestion of a serious and insidious menace to humans throughout this world. Its authenticity is beyond question, as the facts as given are taken from The Spectator, a journal considered by most people to be of a very impartial nature.

The match was played between Dr. Lasker, a Jew, and Dr. Euwe, a Dutchman. Although no date is given, yet the magazine "Chess" refers to it as No. 287 in their issue of September, 1936. Dr. Lasker is now, and has been for some years past, a teacher in U.S.S.R., and at present a citizen of Russia. His youthful and boyhood days were spent in Germany, whose schools and universities of that time freely gave him many honors. Dr. Euwe is the present world champion. The game referred to was not for honors or titles. In fact, as it turned out, it meant much more to a reporter who covered the game, than it did to any other individual, even the participants.

This possibility, however, seemed to hinge on an announcement made by Dr. Goebbels, Minister of National Enlightenment and Propaganda, some time ago, that criticism of works of art was forbidden, at which time he stated that it was intolerable that writers should be allowed to pass judgment on plays, sculpture, poems or musical compositions of a higher grade than they themselves could produce. "Go," said Dr. Goebbels to the critics, "and produce better—or forever hold your peace!"

The word "luckless" is used to describe the young journalist, Hans Schmidt, who transgressed against this decree, and whose unexplicable sin was to pass the following subjective judgment on the play of Dr. Euwe, the world champion, in connection with his play against Dr. Lasker: "At this point Dr. Euwe was guilty of a gross oversight. After playing remarkably well during the first part of the game, he carelessly moved his bishop into a loose and undefended position. His opponent, Dr. Lasker, taking prompt advantage of the error, was able, by moving up a pawn, to gain a piece quickly. Continuing to play with great skill, he compelled Dr. Euwe to resign in half a dozen moves."

IMMEDIATELY following publication of this by the paper, he was arrested, jailed, tried by a jury and sentenced, of which the following is a partial account: "The public prosecutor began by pointing out how easy it was for the critic of a work of art to convey covert censure of the Nazi

U.S. War Memorial in England

A memorial chapel to 568 United States soldiers and sailors who died in England during the World War was dedicated at Brookwood, Surrey, by Ambassador Robert W. Bingham, representative of the American Battle Monuments Commission, and American and British military and naval officials. Picture shows the scene of the dedication of the chapel, one of eight dedicated in this 20th anniversary year of America's entry into the war.

regime, under the transparent veil of aesthetic appraisals. A check to the king might signify an attack on the Fuehrer. An attempt to undermine a pawn position as a subversive plot on the integrity of the state, and so on. The government was determined to put down such disguised treason with the utmost rigor of the law.

"It will be seen that this Hans Schmidt has contravened every one of Dr. Goebbels' injunctions in the most open and unabashed fashion, and there will, on that account, be no need for me to inquire whether he has not, in addition, been guilty of allegorical or symbolical treason. I have no doubt that, were I to investigate the point, I should find, lurking beneath the surface of his words, an inveterate antagonism to our system. But I will not insist on that. I merely ask you to bear it in mind. His overt act is enough to condemn him. To quote the words of our great Nazi poet, his offence is rank and smells to heaven."

"First, he has dared to criticize art—for that chess is an art needs no proof. Who can deny that its combinations often show an almost lyrical beauty; its moves are rhythmic, like those of a dance; its revelations surprising and the chess player's eye, like the poet's, often rolls in a fine frenzy, glances from earth to heaven, and almost literally bodies forth the forms of things unknown."

"Chess being an art, then, this knower Hans Schmidt had no business to criticize it at all. For, as Dr. Goebbels has shown, criticism discourages the artist, and prevents him from putting forth of his best. How can we expect Nordic chessplayers to gain the supremacy which is their due if they are to be subject to the carping strictures of lookers-on? Justly has our minister forbidden this presumption. The utmost Schmidt had a right to do was to record the moves, and that in our noble Nordic notation, and not in the effete and anti-Nazi style of England and America."

"Think again. No one has a right to judge an artist unless he is a better performer than that artist. Is Schmidt a better player than Dr. Euwe? I have looked into his record, and believe that Dr. Euwe could give him a pawn, a move and a beating. Let him wait awhile before he accuses an Euwe of error! Was there ever a greater piece of insolence than that a third or fourth-rate chessplayer should dare to use an expression like "carelessness" about a man of such world-wide repute, such universally acknowledged eminence as the champion?"

"Incidentally, in attacking Dr. Euwe, he is insulting our Aryan race, for, though Dr. Euwe is a Dutchman, he belongs to the outer fringe of Germanism, which we shall not long permit to remain the fringe. Nor is it necessary to point out that, even were biological and genealogical evidence not available, Dr. Euwe's great ability would by itself prove his Germanic origin as a similar argument would show that Philidor, Labourdonnais and Morphy all belong to our unique and noble race. Schmidt Therefore must beware!

"But to return, the decree, as I said, lays down that criticism—if I must use the word—should be impersonal and objective. It must describe the work, and say nothing about the author. Why then, I ask, did not Schmidt, when telling us that Lasker took instant advantage of Dr. Euwe's error—why did Schmidt not add that Lasker is a Jew? This is the Lasker who during a quarter of a century, by dint of a low cunning, maintained himself as chess-champion of the world. Thus, in true liberalistic semitic fashion, depriving Nordic players of their legitimate rights. Nay, in his early youth, by similar devices, he managed to take the highest mathematical honors in his university. Thus here also preventing some member of a nobler stock from achieving that distinction, and now we find Schmidt describing him as "prompt" and as showing skill. Why, I ask, did he not use other terms? Why did he not speak of indecent haste and underhand craft?"

"Why, further, did he conceal Lasker's sinister origin? Where is that impersonality and objectivity which Dr. Goebbels so rightly demands from criticism? To slur over a man's Judaic descent is to forget that you cannot appraise a man's work duly until you know whether his grandmother was a Jewess or a Gentile. Then only can you be truly objective."

"But the explanation is only too plain—Schmidt himself is a Jew. He has not the Hebraic features—there is his cunning. And his very name betrays him. It is so very common to Germany that it is constantly adopted as an alias by those who, for one reason or another, wish their true one not to be known. Beyond doubt Schmidt is an Israel, an Abraham, or even a Marx. When our Fuehrer determined to change his family designation, how differently he acted! Do we say Hell Schmidt? A thousand times no! Gentlemen, deal our fearless and impartial justice; cleanse the state of its dangerous taint; remove its present and subtle adversaries; say with me Heil Hitler, and give this crafty intriguer the punishment he has earned."

AFTER a short deliberation the jury found Schmidt guilty, and he was sentenced to three years in a concentration camp, no chess board being allowed him.

Wouldn't it have been ever so much simpler to have proved Schmidt a witch, by calling witnesses to testify they had seen him riding the clouds on a broomstick? Ever so much pleasanter for Schmidt. Too, he would have been burnt alive, instead of being sent to a concentration camp.

Perhaps the foregoing will act as a quietus to most of our local Nazi and Fascist literary exponents. Who knows, but what—that Nazi prosecutor might use the broomstick and the clouds, as a means of checking them in the above true Nazi fashion.

Accounts for September totaling $7,916.50 were passed by the Esquimalt Council last night on submission by the finance committee.

184 New Shows Groomed For Debut In New Season

By GEORGE ROSS

NEW YORK.

FIRST NIGHTS are upon us and the theatrical season, though late in arriving, has been declared officially open. As usual, there have been the deluges of extravagant promises, hopes, plans and verbal what-ifs from cheery producers. One hundred and eighty-four shows are announced to appear on Broadway before the first thaw, but veterans around the play-belt are inclined to discount half that number, because (1) the money will run out, (2) the angels will run out, (3) Hollywood will kidnap their actors, (4) the playwrights will fail to deliver the manuscripts, (5) discouragement will set in.

The season, nevertheless, has been moving along. Right in the heart of Rockefeller Centre, John and Nelson Rockefeller (his son) have set up "Virginia," a big, lavish and dullish spectacle about the tobacco state. One of the big scenes represents a street in Williamsburg which the Rockefellers have restored to its Colonial glories; and Broadwayites, therefore, are inclined to think that "Virginia" is a Rockefeller ad for the reconstruction work they've done in a historic city. Neither confirmed nor denied, this suspicion draws no comment from Radio City.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

THEY SAY that Noel Coward had more than a mere financial share in the London hit, "George and Margaret," which has been brought to Broadway; but that he also directed the actors who are performing this comedy success from overseas. Mr. Coward's financial share derives from his partnership with John C. Wilson, the tentative producer of the show, and Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne. By a legal agreement reached a couple of years ago, this quartette share in "All for one and one for all" relationship.

So, despite the absence of official affirmation, Mr. Coward may well have a hand in "George and Margaret's" Broadway career. If so, most critics reverently disregarded the Coward touch as they typed out their opinions; for the gist of their opinions seemed to be that "George and Margaret," which deals with a madcap British family, is a weak-sister to the zany "You Can't Take It With You."

HEARTLESS BROADWAY

THE NEW season also has brought us Elissa Landi, the screen's glamorous lady, in a comedy entitled "The Lady Has a Heart," and this, too, was pushed around by the critical gentry none too gently. Capsuling their general remarks, they felt that "The Lady Has a Heart" is a cardboard show about cardboard people and that its plot has been retold so often it verges on decay. Regrettably, there were not too many kind words about Miss Landi's characterization.

For this cinema queen of sensitive features and a penchant both for fictioneering and acting, this misadventure on Broadway comes as a discouraging blow. She had depended much upon it. Twice before she has been rebuffed on the Rialto, though Hollywood was lavish in admiration of her talents. Once in a dramatization of Hemingway's "Farewell to Arms," which met with a brief and bitter fate. Again in a mystical confusion called "Tapestry in Grey" that served neither its author nor Miss Landi well.

Of course, "The Lady Has a Heart" may outwit the critics and stay on indefinitely. It may not. If the latter proves true, it is a safe guess that Miss Landi may return to the kleig lights and fear to venture back again.

ONLY FAIR START

SINCE first nights have been back with us we have been regaled with a few more items. From the atelier of Arthur Hopkins, an old, revered showman, came the play known as "Blow Ye Winds," all about two young people who can't agree about living out their lives ashore or at sea. Henry Fonda exudes cinematic charm throughout. So wary is this incompatability over a period of two and a half hours that some lobby wits were for dubbing it "Two Years Before the Mast," in honor of another seaworthy classic; others, not so witty, merely fell asleep.

The Shuberts brought back a second edition of their musical success, "The Show is On" with various substitutes, Beatrice Lillie having fled to Hollywood. "The Show is On" will have departed our midst by the time you read this.

Thus the new theatrical season has got off to a fair, but not a good start. And one of the reasons for the digital eccentricities of Broadwayites these days is that they are keeping their fingers crossed.

JAPAN PEOPLE AGAINST WAR

But Army Overrides Them, Says W. T. Straith, Telling Club Shanghai Horror

The Japanese people as a whole do not want war and are not responsible for what is going on in China at present, Alderman W. T. Straith told the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel, yesterday after giving a vivid eyewitness story of the horror in and around Shanghai.

"Japan has the loveliest people in the world—but they are very badly led, in fact, they are misled," he said. "Last spring they voted four to one to oust the militarist party, but their democracy is not strong enough. The people do not want this war, and I think it is the last stand of the militarists."

Mr. Straith did not believe Japan would eventually win. Even if she did score a military victory the human and economic loss would be almost irreparable. "It is a real war," said Mr. Straith, of the conflict in China. In two months the Chinese had already lost more men than Canada lost in four years of the Great War."

He gave something of the background leading up to the Shanghai battle, and expressed the opinion that Japan had intended its invasion of north China to remain nothing but an incident, with no thought of a major war ensuing. The solid backbone of the Chinese and their confidence in Chiang Kai-shek, had been a complete surprise to Japan, he said.

His description of the growing apprehension as they neared Shanghai, then of the early days of August there, was vivid and blunt.

He told of the streams of refugees crossing the bridges into the International Settlement, and then of the ghastly scene when two bombs fell at the corner on the Nanking road, which was the busiest spot in the Orient and supposed to be the busiest corner in the whole world.

RESULTS OF BOMBING

The two bombs killed 1,050 people.

"It is hard to imagine the potency of modern bombs," he said. "People who saw the Great War imagine bodies being carried away."

"There was no such thing as bodies left. They went with trucks and shovels. They carried away 18 truckloads of human flesh in one day. It was impossible to identify the dead. One man walking down the street thought at first it was a butcher's truck. When he realized it was loaded with human flesh, he almost fainted."

Mr. Straith also described the trip he and his family made down the Whangpoo River to the liner President Taft anchored in the Yangtze.

Two Chinese planes flew over the tender which carried them, and he was in constant fear that anti-aircraft fire would cause the planes to release their bombs.

The bomb catastrophes in Shanghai, he said, had been caused when the bombing pilot was hit by Japanese shrapnel and released the bomb trips.

Mr. Straith was introduced by Walter M. Walker, president of the club, and thanked by G. H. Stevens.

The Moody Musical Messengers, vocal trio, sang three traditional hymns.

Qualifications Of Trustee Problem

The Esquimalt Council is faced with the problem of just how to interpret residence in the municipality, and has asked its solicitor to clarify the question.

The matter arose at last night's meeting when a formal letter was received from the municipal board of school trustees notifying the council that Trustee Major George Sisman, who returned recently from a prolonged trip to England, had been absent from board meetings for three months, and that his resignation from the board was presupposed.

Reeve Alexander Lockley contended that the Municipal Act now read that a trustee must have ceased to be a resident of the municipality before he could be disqualified from membership.

He claimed that as long as a man's goods and chattels remained in the district he should still be presumed to be a resident. "When a man goes to hospital for four months he is still a resident. We know, because we have to pay 70c a day," he commented.

The Department of Education, he said, had been unwilling to give a definite ruling on Major Sisman's case.

Under the Municipal Act if the council takes no action within a month of notification of a resignation by the school board the board has the right to appoint a new member itself, subject to the approval of the Department of Education.

JOHNSON IS SEEKING JOB

Veteran "Ching" Is in New York Looking For Hockey Post This Winter

NEW YORK—Hockey's glamour man, Ivan (Ching) Johnson, erstwhile defenceman of New York Rangers, strode through Manhattan throngs today prepared, he announced, to snare any worthwhile opportunity in the puck-chasing business that crosses his path.

To a rendezvous with the press yesterday Johnson strode past baseball, football, boxing and rodeo fans suddenly made hockey conscious by the presence of New York's outstanding idol of the rink sport. Along Broadway, 49th Street and Eighth Avenue, the reaction to the smile of the giant veteran was enthusiastic. "Hello Chinaman," "Hi Toots," "Hey, look, it's Johnson," and "Who are you with Ching, the Amers? You can't leave us, remember."

Johnson said he came east after getting his release two weeks ago from Rangers to "shop around." He had not signed with New York Americans of the National League nor had he declined any coaching offers, he revealed.

His present plans call for a journey soon to Stratford, Ont., when he hopes, if nothing turns up in the meantime, to be allowed to train in the modern ice plant there. His brother, Wade, who caused a stir by coaching a Winnipeg junior team to near-championship heights last season, will have charge of the Stratford Midgets of the Ontario Hockey Association this season and Ching may lend a helping hand.

"If I can help the youngsters, I will be only too glad to do so," Johnson said. "At the same time I hope to keep in shape so that if anything comes along I will be ready to step right into action. I think there is another season of hard playing left in my system, but I am also willing to coach if offered the chance."

He said it was true he had been offered the coaching position for Hershey of the United States Eastern Amateur League but that the bid came in mid-summer when he did not have his release from Rangers.

Several other N.H.L. teams were rumored angling for Johnson's services, but Ching said no direct approaches had been made.

SEES ROAD AS MILITARY PLAN

B. A. McKelvie Says Yukon Proposal Also Part of Scheme For War

Bruce A. McKelvie, speaking to Ward Four Conservative Association last night, envisaged the proposed annexation of Yukon Territory to British Columbia, and the projected B.C.-Alaska Highway as parts of a scheme to provide the United States with a military line of communication to Alaska.

The speaker said the United States and Japan would eventually go to war and the war would be fought in Alaska. The U.S. must defend Alaska and needed a militarized highway into the area.

The Yukon annexation plan should be examined very carefully, he said, because there was danger of British Columbia becoming the "Belgium of the Pacific."

Premier Pattullo, he said, was reported as going to Washington, and, presumably, would discuss the highway project.

"We will probably be offered the money without interest to build the roadway, but are we going to allow the government of this province to sell us out to a foreign country?" he asked.

Mr. McKelvie mentioned the purchase of timber and mineral rights by Japanese interests at Cowichan Bay, Alert Bay and the Queen Charlotte Islands. These points might be used for military purposes in case Japan went to war with the United States. There were hundreds of Japanese fishing boats in these waters which could readily be converted to mine layers. The fishermen had an intimate knowledge of the waters, he said.

To sum it up, the speaker continued, the U.S. life line to Alaska was a slender one, and it needed another, which would be furnished by the proposed road. The annual election of officers was held prior to Mr. McKelvie's address.

Robert H. Hiscocks was elected chairman, with other posts filled as follows: Vice—chairman, Adolph Lancaster; secretary, J. J. Bothwell; treasurer, Mrs. W. C. Moresby; delegates to the central executive, Mrs. M. J. Jameson, Mrs. Moresby, M. Lancaster and H. D. Twigg.

C. G. Palmer Is Nonagenarian

DUNCAN—Charles George Palmer, C.I.E., oldest survivor of the siege of Lucknow, will celebrate his 90th birthday on Friday, October 15. Born on October 15, 1847, Mr. Palmer is still hale and hearty and enjoys drives in his car with his daughter as chauffeur. His memory is excellent and he enjoys reminiscing with friends over the events which took place during the siege. He is still at his home, "Stony Patch," Quamichan Lake, near Duncan, where he has lived since 1910. He was a director of the Cowichan Creamery for a number of years, and president of the United Farmers of B.C. in 1917. He was also councillor for North Cowichan municipality from 1914 until 1918, and police commissioner from 1915 to 1924.

CITY SETS OUT RELIEF PLEAS

Drafts Points For Consideration of Royal Commission

In a comparatively short brief, the City Council last night registered several points of revenue restoration and financial relief it would like to submit to the royal commission on redistribution of taxes and municipal aid.

The outline, presented by the finance committee, was approved by the council. It urged consideration of: Full restoration of pari-mutuel and liquor tax revenues. Granting to the city of the amusement tax in toto. Allowance to the city of an equitable share of the gasoline tax.

Assumption by the provincial government of the complete costs of education and hospitals.

Assumption in full by the government of new charges levied under the superannuation scheme.

Assumption by the government of the complete costs of unemployment relief.

The city, the report stated, realized the provincial government had its own problems, but declared a great measure of relief was required by the payers of taxes on real property if the city was to retain its solvency. The motion was presented by

He was an engineer of the Indian government, and for his services during the great famines of 1896 and 1897 he was decorated with the C.I.E.

Alderman J. D. Hunter, finance committee chairman. A similar resolution was being sent by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, Alderman James Adam said.

"Rumor and Talk," Says the Mayor

Chief of Police Told Him No One Being Molested in Victoria

He had been informed by the chief of police that reports of girls being molested were "all rumor and talk," Mayor Andrew McGavin told his council last night as he heard a request from the Native Sons of Canada to leave the street lights burning for a longer period. The lights were only turned out when moonlight was bright enough to make them unnecessary, Alderman T. W. Hawkins said.

Council Honors Hall Reporter

Best wishes of the members of the City Council were conveyed to George Bonavia, Colonist reporter, at last night's council meeting as Mayor McGavin, on behalf of his colleagues, presented to the popular newsman a dinner wagon as a wedding present.

"We all think you are a real fine fellow, and it gives me the greatest of pleasure to present to you and your better half, note that—this tea wagon," the mayor said.

The gift was accompanied by a letter from the mayor and aldermen which spoke of the able and fair way in which Mr. Bonavia had covered city news.

METROPOLITAN AREA SOUGHT

Alderman Wills Suggests Plan For Police and Fire Protection and Water

A conference of representatives from the city, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt, to discuss the formation of a metropolitan area for fire and police protection and for water supply, was requested by Alderman Archie Wills, chairman of the intermunicipal committee, at last night's council meeting.

The alderman asked the mayor to invite the outside representatives to the meeting in the near future.

Alderman Wills spoke of remarks made by certain aldermen who thought there should be more co-operation between the municipalities. He referred to former attempts at joint enterprises and stated the need for a metropolitan police area was becoming more apparent. Alderman Wills mentioned the water question and expressed regret over the inactivity of the intermunicipal committee formed last year.

Alderman S. H. Okell voiced his support of a move towards a Greater Victoria and mentioned that while the city had been criticised for its outspoken attitude on certain questions, the proposal showed a willingness on Victoria's part to co-operate for the general good.

Letters to the Editor

WANTS MORE INFORMATION

To the Editor:—In a letter in your columns, Mrs. E. A. Matheson, local secretary of the League for Peace and Democracy, alluded to a public notice, which was written by Mr. Neil Butler.

I wish to take this opportunity of requesting further information from either of both of your correspondents. The attitude of the League for Peace and Democracy toward Fascism is self-evident, but Mrs. Matheson does not so clearly define the views of the organization she represents toward the Soviet experiment in Russia, nor to the local activities of Soviet agents, more commonly known as Communists, which latter activities seem to cause grave concern to Mr. Butler and P. Hartnell.

Therefore, standing in the position of one who is, although ashamed to admit the fact, ignorant of the fundamental issues involved, and feeling that other interested readers may be in a similar position, I should like to ask your correspondents to further clarify their views.

A STUPID RADIO MOVE

To the Editor:—The following letter has been sent to the Canadian Broadcasting Commission, Ottawa:

"The removing of Kelly's news report from CBCV, Vancouver, is abominable. When listeners are given excellent service of news and weather forecasts at a reasonable hour, why must you consider it your duty to interfere with it, apparently for no reason whatever?"

"The weather report as given at 7.45 p.m. is absurd as far as British Columbia is concerned. One is not interested in weather already experienced, which is all your synopsis gives. Everyone, more especially farmers and fishermen, are frequently vitally interested in 'forecast,' and it is at times of the utmost importance. Why it should please you to abolish this highly important feature to so many persons is beyond comprehension."

"You must know that owing to interference from other stations it is impossible to hear CKWX at 8 p.m."

"It may be that a weather forecast is broadcast at 10 p.m. At that hour by far the majority of farmers and fishermen have long since retired."

"The messages broadcast by The Province reporter to ungettable places amongst the many islands can be at times a matter of life and death. Why do you arbitrarily abolish this and provide nothing to take its place?"

WHY EDUCATE CANADIAN BOYS?

To the Editor:—I should like to congratulate you on your sound policy of allowing free expression in the correspondence columns.

I was very glad to read the outspoken comments of George Jarvis. He was voicing the opinion I have heard many people express in the last few days. At the "harvest home" last Monday night Bishop Sexton informed us that in the whole of Canada he had only found two men at all qualified to be Dean of Columbia, and one of them was far too old and the other too young and inexperienced.

Now what use it, I should like to know, for the women's auxiliary struggling to support a candidate in Point Grey Theological College if we are turning out such poor stuff in Canada? Again, a few years ago, Archdeacon Laycock explained to me that the title of Dean of Columbia is purely an honorary title, as the dean's salary is paid by the cathedral and not by the diocese, over which he has no jurisdiction, and the dean is in reality simply rector of Christ Church Cathedral. Now, in view of this, many members of the cathedral feel they should have some say as to who they will have for their new rector. There has been a wide-spread wish that the Rev. E. Rowbotham should be appointed. For two years he has been assistant priest, and we have found him studious, reliable, courteous and sympathetic. He is the right age—45-50—is English born and educated, but has gained experience as rector of several Canadian churches. He is only one of several fine priests I could name who work on year after year with no hope of promotion, as all the plums are given to men born and bred in England with no Canadian experience.

I remember when Bishop Sexton was appointed there were numerous letters in the press asking for fair play to our Canadian men, but the members of the cathedral felt that Bishop Schofield was a very sick man and must not be opposed. There is, however, no reason now why our loyal Canadians should hesitate to let Bishop Sexton know the general feeling before it is too late. By Canadians I do not necessarily mean those born in Canada, but those who love and understand Canada. There are a few English people in Victoria who, while accepting all the benefits this new country offers, run her down and compare everything Canadian unfavorably with England. These people, of course, would prefer an English dean, but they are few in number.

MAY RICHARDSON.

WARNS OF RAT MENACE

To the Editor:—May I suggest the city health department be given a generous allowance to double their efforts in ridding Victoria of rats? Why wait till a loathsome plague reaps a harvest? Rats are plague enough, considering the menace through contamination of food and destruction generally which these rodents are responsible for, to say nothing should one infested rat land on our shores from the Orient. It is our business as citizens to remind our representatives of the danger in delay. Quick action is needed. Such action is a civic responsibility. Therefore one can but draw the council's attention to the need of necessary health and sanitary measures being taken forthwith to remedy this detrimental situation.

ALICE MCGREGOR,
1190 Camrose Crescent.

NOT A SECTIONAL MATTER

To the Editor:—The statement by Neil B. Butler that the Canadian League for Peace and Democracy "is not for peace, nor is it for democracy... but is a league for Communism," is inaccurate. The Canadian League for Peace and Democracy is organized in the same manner as the League of Nations; that is to say, non-partisan. Our league, like the League of Nations Assembly, cares not whether the members are Conservatives, Communists, Liberals, Socialists or what political party each individual member may belong to. We maintain such a basis because we are convinced (and so are most people) that the question of peace and democracy is not simply a sectional question, but a national and international concern, beyond the limitations of any one political party. If war is declared by or on Canada tomorrow, Communists as much as anyone else will be recruited.

Calling the Canadian League for Peace and Democracy "Communist" is therefore like calling the League of Nations Assembly Communist simply because Maxim Litvinoff is a member of it, or because the League of Nations Assembly takes up the same questions (at least on some occasions) as we do.

General Franco, who has betrayed his own people and now is waging rebellion against a constitutional government, refers to the latter as "Reds" and "Communists." Today we understand why Franco does this. He is a fascist, and wherever we find such types there we find wars, aggression, suppression, intrigues, betrayals, subterfuge and other despicable features of "Mien Kamf" ideology. We Britishers have nothing in common with this. In comparing the statements of Mr. Butler, Hitler and Mussolini, we find an astonishing degree of harmony. It is therefore no surprise that he attacks a movement which strives for peace and democracy.

(MRS.) E. A. MATHESON,
Secretary Canadian League for Peace and Democracy,
1010 Langley Avenue.

CANADIAN FASCIST POLICY
To the Editor:—"Commander of C.U.F." Vancouver Island Division, asserts that the policies advocated by the Canadian Union of Fascists are not reactionary. Neither were those "advocated" by Mussolini and Hitler—during their climb to power. Having attained it they crushed the working classes of their respective countries and deprived them of their only defence—effective labor organization.

Hitler went further. He betrayed the very element—the middle class—that had put him in power, and murdered their leaders (the Blood Bath). Thousands of unemployed men and women of this class have been torn from their families and turned over to the junkers and farmers, practically as serfs, and thousands more have been forced into labor camps.

Canadian Fascism would, at the dictates of its paymasters, betray its miserable dupes as readily as Hitler betrayed his.

It may be, as "Commander of the C.U.F." asserts, that "Canadian Fascists" do not accept many of the features of foreign fascism." But in their propaganda they attack Jews, Freemasons, etc.

"Strange that such difference should be
"Twixt Tweedledum and Tweedledee."

With regard to the disclaimer of the Young Citizens' League of B.C., I would like to ask if that organization can vouch for each individual member, and especially for its pastors and masters?

Sports Mirror

IF ONE IS to believe Mike Mikulak, backfield coach of the University of Oregon football team, then Victoria will get credit for having produced one of the finest fullbacks in the history of American football in the person of Paul Rowe. And one can believe what Mikulak says, as he is a former grid great himself and after his college days established himself as a star in the professional sport.

Just before the game between Oregon and Stanford, which saw the former mark up a sweet victory, Mikulak sang the praises of Rowe to a group of sports writers. Some of the coach's statements as written by Prescott Sullivan in The San Francisco Chronicle follow:

"Exceeding his own promise by several lengths, Mikulak talked not just some but a great deal about the Oregon fullback, the gist of his discourse being that Paul Rowe, Canadian-born ex-rugby player, is the best fullback on the coast, if, indeed, he is not the best fullback in the world. Licking his chops as if in fond recollection of his own line-wrecking youth, Mikulak pointed out that Rowe weighs 265 pounds, is the second fastest man on the Oregon squad and is passionately devoted to the business of ramming his helmeted head into people's ribs."

Rowe got himself added glory last Saturday when he scored a pair of touchdowns as Oregon turned back the University of Gonzaga 40 to 6. One of them was on a 30-yard run after he had accepted a lateral pass.

With two straight victories under their belts, it begins to look as if the New Westminster Salmonbellies are finally going to bring the Canadian box lacrosse championship and the Mann Cup back to British Columbia. Teams from this province have been trying since 1927 to wrest the famous trophy away from the east, but up until this season those great squads from Brampton and Orillia have ruled supreme.

In all fairness to the east it must be remembered that the coast teams have added strength to their squads by importing several star players from Ontario. In the present Salmonbellies' lineup, two of their star players, Hank Munro on defence, and Bill Wilson on the forward line, are both easterners. Munro has been outstanding on the back division in the present series and in the first game was the individual scoring star. In the second game Monday night, Wilson was the big scoring noise for the Fishmen. It must be pretty bitter for Orillia to have two such players from their own neck of the woods play such a major role in their defeats.

Visiting teams can never accuse British Columbia crowds of being unsportsmanlike. A fine example of the fine spirit of the lacrosse fans was seen in Monday (Turn to Page 17, Col. 3)

13 to 1 Starter Captures Classic In Close Finish

Defeats Red Squaw By Neck at Newmarket; Favored Dan Bulger Unplaced

Field of 26

NEWMARKET, Suffolk (CP)—In a close, thrilling finish, Major R. Glover's Artist's Prince, a four-year-old chestnut colt by Artist's Proof-Princess Galahad, today won the 98th renewal of the Cambridgeshire Stakes.

Artist's Prince, starting at 13 to 1, defeated R. L. Glaspool's Red Squaw by a neck, with W. H. Thorpe's Inchkeith, a head back, in third place.

The heavy favorite, Sir Abe Bailey's Dan Bulger, who won the race last year, was unplaced in the field of 26.

He looked superb in the paddock and started at 17 to 2, but his weight—127 lbs.—proved too much for him and he was well beaten. At no point was he able to get going well and by the time "The Bushes" were reached—far from the finish point—he was a beaten horse.

Artist's Prince, who drew a good post position near the stands, won cleverly by covering the two and a quarter miles in 1.51. Johnnie Dines, the ex-jockey who trained the horse, had publicly tipped him as the winner, as he did not think any other candidate could concede the weight assigned him—94 pounds.

The finish was the most exciting in years. The distances separating the first six were neck, head, short head, head, neck, head. Artist's Prince only recently had been sold by Major Glover to Captain W. P. Aherne, whose wife owns another runner, Squadron Castle.

Red Squaw and Inchkeith both started at 25 to 1. The former, once named Blackgrass F., is a filly by Hurry On—Blackgrass. Inchkeith is a colt by Highborn II out of Rackarock.

Last Rites In Madison Square

NEW YORK—They sang "The Last Roundup" in Madison Square Garden at midnight funeral services for Walter Craven, 29-year-old cowboy from Butler, Okla., who was injured fatally last Saturday night at a rodeo performance in the same arena.

The casket containing the body that was trampled under the flying hoofs of a steer was placed in the centre of the arena after last night's performance.

Three hundred and fifty cowboys and girls heard the Rev. Nathan A. Seagle, rector of St. Stephen's Church, read the Episcopal service after all rodeo spectators had departed.

The body will be sent to Butler, Okla., where Craven's mother and stepfather have a ranch.

WILL DECIDE CITY HONORS

Chicago Cubs and White Sox Wind Up Baseball Series With Seventh Game

CHICAGO—This was show-down day at Wrigley Field for the White Sox and Cubs in Chicago's longest-city baseball title battle since 1931.

The White Sox's hopes of winning the autumnal event for the fourth straight time were given a setback yesterday at Comiskey Park when they could not do much with southpaw Larry French, while the Cubs belted the American League's ace right-hander, Vernon Kennedy, and their crack rescuer, Clint Brown, for 15 hits and a 6 to 2 victory to square the series at three triumphs apiece. The Sox had to go to the seventh game limit to win in 1931, but swept through the 1933 and 1936 series in four straight.

Manager Charlie Grimm nominated Curt Davis to do the pitching necessary to give the National League delegation its first city championship since they won four out of six games in 1930. Jimmy Dykes' selection was burly John Henderson Whitehead who conquered the Cubs last Saturday.

B.C. Rider Is Rodeo Winner

NEW YORK—Two Canadian entries finished in the money in the cowboys' bareback bronk riding contest last night at the 12th annual world championship rodeo.

Hughie Long of Battleford, Sask., riding a mean bucking horse named "Dynamite," won second-place prize money, followed by "Smoky" Snyder of Kimberley, B.C., who rode "Stubbs." First place in this competent went to Paul Carney of Galeton, Colo., aboard "Fire Neck."

SEABISCUIT NOW LEADER

Wins Continental Handicap to Top War Admiral in Track Earnings

NEW YORK—C. S. Howard's crack thoroughbred, Seabiscuit, easily won the Continental Handicap at Jamaica yesterday and passed Samuel Riddle's War Admiral as the turf's leading money winner this year.

Seabiscuit, second to Rosemont in the rich Santa Anita Handicap and a consistent winner ever since, packed 130 pounds and won the one and one-sixteenth-mile test for a purse of $10,000 added by five lengths, going away, from Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Caballero 2nd. C. Putnam's Moonside was a fast closing third, a length and a half back of Caballero 2nd.

Seabiscuit ran the distance in 1:44.5 and paid off at 4 to 5, 1 to 3 and 1 to 6. Caballero 2nd was 3 to 1 for place and 8 to 5 for show. Moonside paid 5 to 2 for show.

Seabiscuit's share of the purse was $9,250 and swelled his seasonal earnings to $152,780. War Admiral, winner of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont, had won $144,620 when an injury forced him to the sidelines.

ENGLISH RUGBY

By JOHN ROWLAND

Although the English rugby season has not opened officially the intercity game between Victoria College and West Vancouver Barbarians was as good as could be expected as an exhibition game.

The Barbarians on Saturday last had a tough struggle with the Varsity second fifteen—which team, by the way, are almost as good as their first fifteen this season—and won from Varsity by a score of 17 to 16. The Barbarians, down eight points with 10 minutes to go, kicked a place goal and kicked a dropped goal to nose out Varsity.

All this was done with the aid of that popular player "Roxy" Roxborough—very popular with the Victoria fans—who was unable to make the trip to Victoria for the Thanksgiving Day game with College at Macdonald Park.

It was "Roxy's" absence made the difference between victory and defeat for the Barbarians. The substitute half was not at home in that position and was largely responsible for the defeat of his side.

Incidentally, the Barbarians are managed by J. C. Oswald, who has taken an interest in the team since its formation three years ago.

They must certainly be a very sporting club, having no grounds at home to practice on. The Barbarians have to go all the way from West Vancouver to Vancouver City to get practice. This calls for a good sporting spirit on the part of the players.

J. C. Oswald is an old Watsonian, therefore he will be a good guide to any fifteen he may take an interest in.

Victoria College players did well in their exhibition, and it gave them an advantage over other league fifteens in being able to get a "shake-down" before the league games start.

The College forwards will have to get down lower and get more pushing power. They were pushed all over the field on Thanksgiving Day. The centre three-quarters must be made to pass frequently to their wings. They must make the "cut-in" only occasionally.

There were the usual two or three finding fault with the referee, but they should understand that in an exhibition game the referee usually passes up technicalities to allow more freedom for the players, to keep the game as open as possible, also to give the spectators a more interesting game to watch.

KIMON KUDO ON MAT CARD

Jujutsu Expert to Wrestle Scotty Dawkins in Main Event

Local wrestling fans will see action in the Japanese fashion Saturday evening when Kimon Kudo, the jujutsu expert from the land of the cherry blossoms, takes on Scotty Dawkins in the first half of the double main event at the Tillikum gym.

Kudo recently scored a win over Man Mountain Dean, 320-pound bearded grappler.

The match will be a mixed affair. The referee will toss a coin, the winner having the choice of naming the first fall. If Dawkins wins the toss he can name catch-as-catch-can wrestling, and if so, the second fall will be by jujutsu methods. The man who wins the fall in the quickest time has the choice of naming the style for the last fall.

CHOKING LEGAL

Jujutsu rules stipulate no pin falls; a fall is only made when an opponent surrenders. Choking is legal and is the usual method of securing submission. Hip-length white jackets are worn and are used to secure holds.

In addition to the bout mentioned there will be another 10 six-minute round affair and a special event of five 10-minute rounds. At least five new wrestlers will appear on the card.

GRID PLAYERS SUSPENDED

Winnipeg Blue Bombers Take Action When Members Break Training

WINNIPEG—Three players with Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Western Interprovincial Football Union were suspended indefinitely yesterday by Coach Bob Fritzy for breaking training rules following the 7 to 1 defeat administered the team in Calgary Monday.

As Winnipeg returned last night, Fritzy announced Bill Nairn, middle wing; Ches McNance, outside wing, and Halfback Harry Badger have been asked to turn in their uniforms. All have been used as substitute players. Fritzy said one other player will be asked for an explanation of a suspected similar breach of rules.

President Les Isard and Manager Lou Adelman gave Fritzy full authority to enforce disciplinary measures.

CUP RUGBY TO GET UNDER WAY

Senior Fifteens to Go in Quest of Barnard Cup Saturday

Barnard Cup rugby entries will fire their opening guns Saturday at Macdonald Park to officially commence the season when the J.B.A.A. will oppose Victoria College and the Wanderers will take on the Garrison.

The newly-formed College team and last season's cup winners will fight it out on the upper field, while the army outfit and the Oak Bay squad will take the lower pitch.

Due to the condition of some of the grounds play in the senior B division has been postponed a week. The draw in that section calls for the Garrison and the Canadian Scottish to play and the Navy to meet Cowichan. It will be the first time in several seasons Cowichan has played under the Victoria Rugby Union.

Leut. Governor E. W. Hamber will be unable to officiate at the opening games, and he will probably be represented by Commander Beard.

C. F. Ley, chairman of the board of referees told the meeting yesterday several new officials had been taken on for approval. This season referees will be required to wear shirts and their sweaters will be of suitable color, the latter to be purchased by the Union.

Linesmen will be given instructions by the chairman of the referees' board and all clubs are asked to provide men for the touch lines.

McKECHNIE CUP

Play for the McKechnie Cup will get under way November 11, when Varsity will play Vancouver at Vancouver. December 4 will see Varsity play Victoria at Vancouver and on December 27 Vancouver will meet Victoria here.

THIRD BOXLA TILT TONIGHT

New Westminster Opposes Orillia Terriers With Two-game Margin

VANCOUVER—Orillia Terrier heads were put together today, mapping a plan of box lacrosse strategy they hope will wreck the powerful New Westminster Salmonbellies machine in the third game of the Mann Cup finals tonight.

As Salmonbellies sat back contentedly enjoying a two-game lead in the best-of-five series, the eastern representatives went into earnest consultation. Though the final session of that meeting may have a major effect on the final resting place of the Canadian lacrosse title this year, the plotters were far from optimistic.

"Frankly," Coach Frank Carroll told interviewers, "I don't think our chances are very good. All I can do is hope the boys will come back and show the Vancouver public some of the lacrosse they showed in the eastern finals."

Carroll admitted there wasn't much they could do against Salmonbellies, who, he said, "are a much better team than Vancouver seems to realize."

He was high in his praise for (Turn to Page 17, Col. 3)

English, U.S. and European Performers Share in World Records

NEW YORK—Although the big winter indoor season doesn't open until January, an off-season checkup on summer track and field performances shows some interesting statistics.

A list of the outdoor season's best performances has been rounded up by the Amateur Athletic Union, official publication of the Amateur Athletic Union, and the list discloses that seven world records were bettered—honors went to England, the United States, Finland, Sweden, Hungary and Ireland.

One of the records was a 4.06 mile made by Stanley Wooderson of England in a paced trial, beating Glenn Cunningham's 4.06 standard. Archie San Roman's 4.072 was second best of the year.

One record that will not stand for any argument is the hammer throw of 198 feet 8 1/2 inches, credited to Dr. Patrick O'Callahan, beating the accepted record by more than nine feet. Then there was the dual feat of the Californians, Earle Meadows and Bill Sefton, in pole vaulting 14 feet 11 inches.

NEW HURDLES MARK

Other world-record breaking feats were Bob Osgood's stunt of running the high hurdles in 14 seconds flat and Mel Walker's high jump of 6 feet 10 1/2 inches.

John Henry Jossion of Sweden and Miklos Szabo of Hungary ran 3,000 metres in 8:15.8 and 8:17.8, respectively, to beat the record of 8:18.4. Ilmari Salminen of Finland did 10,000 metres in 30:05.5 against a record of 30:06.2.

Three record breaking and one record equalling performances were not listed among the best because they had no chance for record approval. Ben Johnson of New York and Yoshioka of Japan both ran 100 metres in 10.2 seconds and Adrian Talley did 100 yards in 10.4 with strong winds behind them. John Woodruff, long-standing Pittsburgh negro, was clocked in 147.8, two seconds under the world record, for 800 metres only to learn the track was five feet short. That's only half a stride for him.

HEADS SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE

Lorne Ritchie was elected president of the Sunday School Basketball League at its annual meeting held yesterday evening. Vivian Shoemaker was named vice-president and Fred Harding was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Seven entries were made in the intermediate B section and six in the junior division.

Intermediate entries follow: Bombers (Metropolitan Church), Klausner and Son (St. Alban's), Y.M.C.A., Christ Church, St. Louis College, Eight Aces, and Chinese Students. Junior entries include Y.M.C.A., St. Alban's, First United, Centennial, Lake Hill and Chinese Students.

Howe Hopeful On Railway Problem

Government's Policy Will Be Effective If Given Reasonable Time, Minister Says

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Transport Minister C. D. Howe expressed belief last night the federal government's present policy would be effective in solving the Dominion's railway problem, "given reasonable time."

The policy, he told the annual meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade, was to "operate the government-owned lines efficiently and with a minimum of new expenditure until earnings warrant, and at the same time to give privately-owned railways the greatest possible freedom to do likewise."

"The plan provides that the government shall do everything possible to increase traffic by encouraging foreign trade and by encouraging the development of new industries within the country," the minister asserted.

"I presume the railways' problem can be said to be solved," he declared, "when the Canadian Pacific is restored to its pre-depression prosperity and the Canadian National Railways can pay all its charges. To me, the problem seems far from hopeless, though I will admit that time and a combination of developments are required to bring about the result unless a plan other than the government's present policy is adopted."

GOOD YEAR AHEAD

Despite western crop failure and higher cost of rail labor and materials, the minister said he believed both railways had a good year ahead.

Mr. Howe referred to a resolution adopted at the last annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Vancouver, expressing dissatisfaction with "negligible progress" in dealing with the railway problem. His "only complaint" with the resolution was that it "does not suggest any method of bringing about the desired result."

"My short experience," he added, "tells me that chambers of commerce are definitely and fairly unanimously against anything that I may propose that is intended to operate in the direc-

COAST ROUTE IS OPPOSED

Calgary Supports Alberta Cities Seeking Air Mail Service to Yukon

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Board of Trade last night added its voice to the boards of trade and chambers of commerce of other Alberta cities in urging the federal government to route the air mail line from eastern Canada through Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Calgary and Edmonton to the Yukon.

The route is expected to be one of the topics discussed at a meeting called for today by the Lethbridge Board of Trade. Alberta delegates contend the inland route is better for flying conditions and emergency landing fields than the Pacific Coast route sought by Vancouver and other British Columbia cities.

FISH PACKER RAGNA SAFE

VANCOUVER—The fish packer Ragna, object of an intensive search by airplanes, government patrol boats and fishing vessels from Cecepeece on the west coast of Vancouver Island to Cumshewa Inlet in the Queen Charlotte Islands last week, was reported safe today.

The Ragna reached Bella Bella Saturday. She was delayed after striking a log which damaged her propeller.

tion of improving the position of the railroads."

Mr. Howe declared there was "no doubt" trans-Canada air service would be in full operation by July of next year, and he expected to see the line extended to Moncton before the end of 1938. Operations on the Winnipeg-Lethbridge-Edmonton leg would be started in a few weeks. Progress of radio equipment would determine whether the Lethbridge-Vancouver link would operate this winter.

FAMILY TRAILS ESKIMO PILOT

Navolia, Hudson Strait Navigator, Takes Wife and Children Along on Job

By R. K. CARNEGIE Canadian Press Staff Writer

LAKE HARBOR, Baffin Island (CP)—All skippers who ply into Hudson Strait know Navolia, the Eskimo pilot who guides ships through the winding and impressive entrance into Lake Harbor, the port often referred to as the capital of Baffin Island. Navolia is his only name, for Eskimos do not bother with surnames.

For 20 years this sturdy-built native has been an outstanding pilot in these parts, and is famous from one end of Hudson Strait to the other among the Ojibwa, the natives who live along these shores. Ojibwa means "people who live in a warm country," for the ice-fretted Hudson Strait in the sub-Arctic is considered a warm country to those who live within the Arctic circle.

Even after he took up the job of pilot, Navolia, who is now about 45, was the champion wrestler among the Ojibwa, and repeatedly proved it in contests at Lake Harbor, which port the natives call Kingmaroo.

Heralding the revival of the U.S. merchant marine, the ship shown above, which will be successor to the Leviathan, will be the largest vessel ever to be built in U.S. shipyards. The ship will be built at Newport News, Va., at a cost of $15,750,000, part of which will be a government subsidy, for operation by the United States Lines. It will be 723 feet long, displace 31,000 tons and have accommodations for 1,200 passengers. Its speed will be 22 knots.

SUSPENDERS FOR PILOTS

Designed to Preserve Looks and Lives of U.S. Army Fliers

DAYTON, O. (AP)—The United States army air corps soon may decree that all its pilots must wear suspenders while flying in order to preserve their looks and lives.

The suspenders are a new type designed to hold a pilot back in his seat in the event of a crash.

"About 90 per cent of all personnel injuries are due to the pilot being thrown violently forward and smashing his head against the instrument panel," Capt. Harry G. Armstrong, medical officer, declared.

TRAVEL MADE HIM CONSTIPATED

Salesman Says Kruschen Keeps Him "On His Toes"

"I am a commercial traveler" writes a correspondent, "and due to endless traveling by train and automobile, I find that I become constipated if I do not keep myself internally clean. Kruschen Salts is the only thing that will do this, effectively and not interfere with my work. I take a large dose of Kruschen every Saturday night and on Sunday, when I have no work to do, the Salts act on me. On weekdays I take a small dose on rising. It is necessary that I be 'on my toes' all through the day, and this is the only way that it possibly can be done."

V.L.
Kruschen Salts is an excellent recipe for maintaining a condition of internal cleanliness. The numerous salts in Kruschen stimulate your internal organs to smooth, regular action. Your inside is thus kept clear of those impurities which, when allowed to accumulate, lower the whole tone of the system.

Ship Contract, Awarded to Burrard Drydock Co., Involves Replacing 73 Plates

Contract for repairing Norwegian Ms. Soloy, which this week was floated from a Thormanby Island reef, was today awarded to the Burrard Drydock Company at a cost of $195,000.

Preliminary work was started on the ship this morning, the contract calling for the completion of the work in 70 days.

So extensive was the damage to the Soloy that practically the entire hull forward of the engine-room will have to be rebuilt, a total of 73 plates having to be replaced. The hull was badly crumpled and tank tops set up by the impact with the reefs.

Tenders for the work were opened on Monday and the bids were submitted by cable to the owners, Erling H. Samuelson at Oslo, Norway. Award of the job was made this morning with receipt of a cable from Oslo.

YARROW'S BID
Yarrows Limited of Esquimalt submitted a bid on the work. Prior to the stranding of the Soloy at Thormanby Island, September 30 last, she was dry-docked at the North Vancouver plant of the Burrard Drydock Company, which firm at that time did some work on her before she headed northward for Powell River to load pulp and paper.

Ss. Charles Christensen has since been chartered to load the Soloy's cargo at Powell River. The Soloy is a motor driven vessel of 4,402 registered tons, being 381.9 feet long, with 54 feet beam and 24.7 depth of hold. She was built in 1929 at Kockums plant shipyard at Malmö.

General Lewin Safe in Sudan

KHARTOUM, Sudan (CP-Reuters)—Brigadier-General A. C. Lewin and his wife are alive and apparently unhurt, a searching plane reported last night. A rescue party left to bring them in.

The retired army officer and his wife were missing since Saturday on a flight from England to Kenya. A southbound Imperial Airways plane located their craft and dropped food but was unable to land owing to the terrain.

Later another plane flew over the spot and saw the couple, apparently uninjured from their forced landing.

TOO LIBERAL CREDIT SCORED

Association Finds Too Long Terms Hurt Business As Whole

That too liberal credit policies were hurting business as a whole and were having an unwholesome effect on buying power was the decision of a round-table discussion at the weekly meeting of the Credit Granters' Association of Victoria in Spencer's dining-room yesterday.

L. E. Evenden, credit manager of the Hudson's Bay Company, who led the discussion, read an address delivered on the subject at a recent conference in eastern Canada by R. E. Bayliss, credit manager of one of the largest Canadian department stores.

The paper stressed especially the dangers of granting credit with too long terms. It urged education of the public in safe credit methods as one of the greatest needs of the retail business at present, and pointed to the effect of extended installment plans in the case of both durable and non-durable articles.

It was announced that L. S. Crowder, St. Louis, manager of the National Retail Credit Association, would be in Victoria November 5, and tentative plans were laid to hold a meeting at which Mr. Crowder could address local credit men.

Sabotage Claim On U.S. Warship

WASHINGTON (AP)—A United States Navy inquiry board reported it had found evidence of possible sabotage to the heavy cruiser Vincennes, now undergoing tests at the Boston navy yard. The board said that in one of the four reduction gear boxes of the 10,000-ton craft, a large piece of metal was found. In another, a file was discovered later. The sabotage was not estimated. The board reported an investigation was started when a noise was heard from the reduction gear machinery. In it was found a piece of metal which the board said was obviously left in or put in. The board said the metal possibly was placed by an unidentified person, but could also have been left in accidentally.

Chiefs Favor Radio Patrols

Conference Endorses Heatley's Plan for Metropolitan Scheme

Police chiefs of Greater Victoria are definitely in favor of instituting a system of radio-equipped prowler cars in the city and municipalities and will urge support of a metropolitan policing plan upon their respective police commissions.

At a conference in Chief Thomas Heatley's office yesterday, attended by Chief John Syme, Oak Bay; Chief Allan Rankin, Saanich, and Chief H. W. Pecknold, Esquimalt, a plan proposed by Chief Heatley was endorsed by the chiefs as one suited to their needs.

Chief Heatley gave a general outline of the plan and later introduced Cliff Deaville who supplied the conference with technical details and facts concerning the cost and operation of a system.

It was apparent also the four chiefs were in favor of establishing a two-way communication system as the most effective means of combating crime.

Following the meeting the chiefs will refer the matter to their respective commissions for the decision, outlining all available details.

It is understood, too, that the individual chiefs will urge support of the plan on the commissions. They generally accepted the belief that a system for one municipality alone would not be worth while and that to achieve the proper results it should cover the city and three municipalities.

PLAN MOVIE EXPANSION

Central Films Will Start Larger Scale Production Here Next Year

Firmly established after two years of steady growth, which have seen the elimination of the troubles which beset all new businesses, Victoria's movie industry will next year start on a programme of broad development.

Back from Hollywood where he has signed new contracts, Kenneth J. Bishop, president of Central Films Limited, said this morning: "Next year we plan to go into larger production." The company's immediate programme includes four pictures with an average cost of $60,000 each, about the highest figure spent on any of the 10 movies produced here so far, and two more after them with a cost in the neighborhood of $75,000.

Work on the first production of the series, "The Devil in Ermine," will start at the Willows studios November 1. Its five successors will carry the company through to next summer.

May enter "BIG TIME" To follow this immediate programme Mr. Bishop is planning a general development of the industry, with possible expansion into the "big-time" scale of production. The extension for another 10 years of the Cinematograph Act, 1927, by the British government is the reason for Central Films' development programme.

In its new form the act stipulates that motion pictures produced for import under the British quota regulations must have a cost of at least $75,000, with the greater proportion of the money going into Empire pockets. The Victoria company is in complete agreement with the new regulations, which are designed to end the practice of some companies in the past of sending valueless quota pictures into England to permit the entry of their other productions.

PICTURES COMING HERE

However, Central Films' market is not only in Britain. All its productions to date have been released in the United States and the majority of them in Canada, in several cases with considerable success.

In two weeks' time Victoria movie-goers will be given the opportunity of seeing two examples of the best of the company's work.

Mr. Bishop is at present arranging for the Canadian distribution of "Fury and the Woman," starring William Gargan and Molly Lamont, a logging picture with an upland setting, which was produced under the working title of "Vengeance of the Forest," and of "What Price Vengeance?" police story with Lyle Talbot and Wendy Barrie in the leading roles, produced under the name of "Why Let 'em Live?"

Meetings of the 3rd St. Mary's Cub Pack will commence on Monday, October 18, at the usual time.

Manslaughter Case Continues

Trial of E. C. Loughlean Proceeding at Assizes

The crown continued its case at the Victoria Assizes today in the trial before Justice Denis Murphy of E. C. Loughlean, accused of manslaughter in a traffic fatality in which William J. Plowright died.

Under cross-examination by Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, Charles Adams, who was in the car at the time of the accident, said that he was sober and there was nothing to indicate the accused was not sober.

Mr. Adams said that he had driven the car out to Sooke, where he had never been before, and had had the car under complete control. On one hill he noticed that the brakes were not acting "quite like my own."

Sergeant J. F. McNaught of the Provincial Police, who examined the car, said the brakes were "practically useless."

Other witnesses were Constable P. R. Brown of the Provincial Police, who continued his testimony of yesterday afternoon, and Constable Gerald Davis, also of the Provincial Police.

Constable Davis described the position of the sand pile on the side of the highway which was marked by the car's wheels and said it stood off the road on earth or macadam.

Alexis Martin appeared for the crown.

Tells Members About Prince

Duncan McBride Relates Adventures of "Bonnie Charlie" to Burns Club

Exciting and romantic episodes in the career of "Bonnie Prince Charlie" were told by Duncan McBride at the meeting of the Burns Club last night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. Solos and trios were contributed to the programme by Mrs. W. A. Jameson, Alec McGown and J. J. Matheson.

Mr. McBride traced the adventures of the dashing young prince from the time when he first entered history in 1745. He told of the battles fought with the English and his flight from the shores of Scotland. His name would be loved and honored in song as long as brave men lived and true hearts beat in "bonnie" Scotland, the speaker said.

The programme opened with the singing of "Ye Banks and Braes" and bagpipe selections by Pipe-Major Donald Cameron. Following this, W. B. Grant, president, extended greetings to the large number of new members, remarking that the Victoria club would soon again be the largest Burns group in the world.

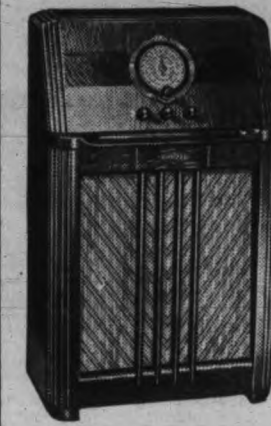

During the course of Mr. McBride's address, Mrs. Jameson sang "Cam Ye By Athol?" and "Over the Sea to Skye." Mr. McGown rendered "Sound the Fife" and "Culloden Moor," and Mr. Matheson contributed "March of the Cameron Men" and "Hey, Johnnie Cope!" The concluding item was by the trio: "Bonnie Charlie's Noo Awa'."

The president announced the executive had unanimously elected past president, W. A. Jameson, to the vacant office of honorary vice-president, W. Sterling, South African veteran, was welcomed as a guest. The next meeting will be held November 9, when Scottish songs illustrated by living pictures arranged by Mrs. A. S. Christie will be presented.

A moment of silent tribute was paid to the memory of George C. Grant, who passed away recently, and who was one of the original members of the club and had always taken a keen interest in its affairs. The president tendered the sympathies of the members to Mrs. Grant, who for many years has ministered to sick members of the Burns Club.

A presentation of certificates will be made to successful candidates at the summer examinations of the Associated Board of the Royal Schools of Music tomorrow evening at 8.15 in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

Relief and Labor Matters to Be Discussed at Ottawa

Called east by Premier Pattullo, Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, left Victoria this afternoon for Ottawa, with E. W. Griffiths, unemployment relief administrator.

They will meet the Premier in Ottawa on Sunday and confer Monday with Hon. Norman McLeod, Federal Minister of Labor, and A. B. Purvis, chairman of the national employment commission.

Mr. Pearson said he was not advised of the exact nature of the proposed discussions, but expected they would have to do with various matters recently under negotiations between the two governments covering unemployment relief and labor subjects.

The provincial government recently objected to a move to centralize control of employment services in Ottawa, maintaining they could best be handled provincially.

The problem of a winter influx of men from the prairies to British Columbia seeking government aid is also expected to come under review.

The meetings in future will be held Tuesday nights. Next Tuesday evening the Young People's Union will hold a rally in the First United Church Sunday school room at 8.

Shadowgraphs depicting the "Landing of the Pilgrim Fathers," and "Pilgrim Fathers Going to Church," were put on, with the following taking part: Edna Mae Bell, Jean Alexander, Nancy Boyd, Gilbert Gibson, Jim Grist and Rev. Dredge. The programme came to a close with the singing of "The Day Thou Gavest, Lord, Is Ended" and the Mizpah Benediction.

The evening's programme was in charge of Enid Fox, Roxie Wilson and Ken Wilson.

Adventures in Tibet II—FAILURE AND SUCCESS

Soon after obtaining drinking water from the pool in the desert river bed, Sven Hedin and his companion met some shepherds, and were guided to a town where they gained back their health.

One day a bull yak made a charge upon Hedin, but he escaped.

In later years, Hedin spent a great deal more time making other journeys across unknown parts of Tibet. One day his caravan was struck by a sand storm. The loads were taken from the backs of the camels, and the beasts laid themselves flat on the ground, with their heads and necks stretched out. The men guarded themselves as well as they could with tent cloth, boxes of food, and coats. All day and all night, the storm lasted, then came to an end.

The men and the animals suffered during the sand storm, but all lived through it.

In the summer of 1901, Hedin tried to reach the holy city called Lhasa. White men were not allowed to go there, but he thought he would try anyway.

Hedin put on a Mongolian coat of red color, and around his neck wore a Buddhist rosary with 108 beads. He also carried a small image of the Buddha in a metal case.

A native of Tibet served as a guide, and a Russian Cossack also went along. All three were mounted, and they rode toward Lhasa.

Before long, the three men were halted by Tibetan soldiers. Questions were asked, and it was learned that they were strangers.

"We want to go to Lhasa," said Hedin.

"You cannot visit our holy city," replied the leader of the soldiers. "We shall escort you out of the country."

After being taken to the border, Hedin made his way back to Sweden, but four years later he returned to Tibet. The strange country had a charm for him.

Once more, Hedin crossed desert highlands. For more than two months, his party did not meet a single human being. Some of the sheep taken with the caravan were frozen to death. The strange animals known as "yaks" were seen from time to time. One day a bull yak made a charge upon Hedin, but he escaped.

At last the party reached Shigatse, a city almost as holy as Lhasa. The Swedish explorer was treated well, and was allowed to watch a New Year's festival. White-robed priests danced a "devil-dance" to the music of trumpets 10 feet long.

Hedin stayed in Shigatse for almost seven weeks. Then he went away—happy to have learned a great deal about the religion of the Tibetans.

THE WORLD is full of women who are always railing at the injustice of the fate that has befallen them. Why am I not popular? a woman will ask. Why haven't I hosts of friends? Why am I not elected president of my club? Why do women only ask me to their big parties and not to their little dinners? Why does my husband philander? Why are my children always crazy to get away from home? Why am I lonely and unloved in my advancing age?

Of course, when a woman puts any one of the questions on her grievance list to us, we reply with such soothing generalities as we can think up in the emergency. But if we spoke the truth we would tell her that she was the one to blame, not others, and that there was not a single thing of which she complained for which she was not directly responsible.

We could tell the woman who can't understand why she isn't popular that the reason she isn't persona grata with her sister women is because she does nothing to try to propitiate and please people. She is not friendly, so she has no friends. Or, perhaps, it is because she has an aggressive manner that rubs people the wrong way. Or she lacks graciousness. Or she has no tact and never moves without stepping on our toes. Or she is catty and we know the minute we turn our backs she will tear our reputations to tatters.

We could tell the woman who can't understand why she is never elected president of her club that it is because she is bossy and arbitrary, and doesn't know how to do teamwork. Or because she has made enemies in the club. Or because she is a slacker who always ducks her share of the work.

We could tell the woman who doesn't understand why her invitations to go places and do things are few and far between is because she talks too much. She will spoil any dinner by monopolizing the conversation and reduce any company to a state of nervous prostration by an evening of her babble. Or, perhaps, it is because she is an arguer who can start something by even mentioning the weather. Or, perhaps, she is one of the bores who repeat all the smart things her children say without giving us a chance to ring in the infantile witticisms of our little Johnny.

We could tell the woman who has a philandering husband that perhaps the reason he wandered away from his own fireside was because there was a critic on the hearth that never ceased chirping about his faults and weaknesses and telling him what a poor makeshift of a man he was. Or, maybe, his house was always so cluttered up and dirty and the children in such an uproar that he was driven to a club or saloon to find a place where he could sit down and rest in peace and get something decent to eat.

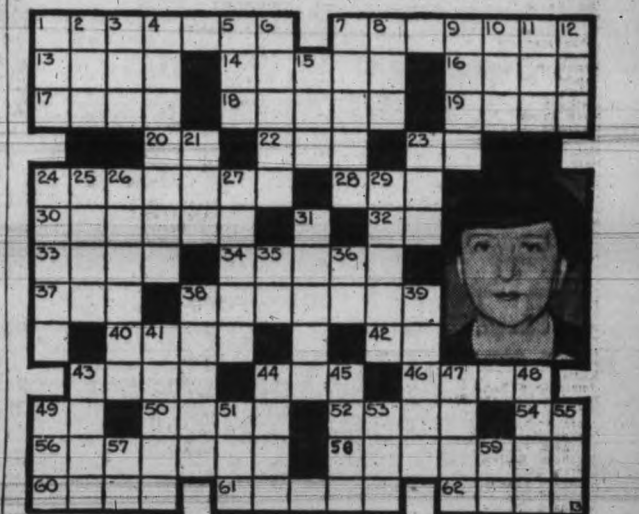

Or, perhaps, she was so absorbed in the children she never noticed the children's papa, and while she was holding the baby's hand while it slept, he hunted up some lady to hold his because he was so lonesome and neglected.

We could tell the woman who doesn't understand why her children are so anxious to get away from home that it was because she has made home a prison to them. She is so neat that they dare not move a pillow or track in mud or leave a toy around, so they escape to some other fellow's house where they can have fun. Or, maybe, Mother has nerves that everything a youngster does seems to get on.

Or, maybe, she is one of the possessive mothers who never will let her children grow up and have any liberty or do anything that the other girls and boys do. Maybe she is one of the mothers who will never let their daughters have any dates or buy their own clothes; who reads all of their letters and listens in on all of their telephone calls, and never lets her children go out of the house without putting them through a questionnaire about where they are going, whom they are going with and whom they expect to see. And the youngsters have to go away from home to get even a breath of liberty.

P. Mickleburgh Is Named Head

Elected President of Saanich Conservatives at Annual Meeting

John Patterson and H. A. Hunt. Mr. Patterson was given acclamation as first vice-president, Miss Hazel Fletcher as second vice-president and F. J. Butteris as third vice-president.

Mr. Hunt was elected secretary-treasurer, replacing F. P. Fatt, who retired after three years in the office.

Mr. Carr, the retiring president, and W. O. Wallace were selected as delegates at large. Ten delegates and alternates were chosen to attend the Nanaimo Federal riding meeting.

The meeting passed a resolution protesting the alienation of mineral and timber resources of the province to Oriental interests, voting that copies be forwarded to Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, and to the B.C. Conservative Association.

In his annual report as secretary-treasurer, Mr. Fatt drew attention to a decline in membership from 60 in 1935 to 35 last year. There was a small deficit in the finances, he said.

Mr. Fatt suggested there was a lack of interest among the rank and file of the party in Saanich because of a lack of leadership shown by the provincial association. This spirit and leadership was what kept the C.C.F. party active, he said, and the Conservatives needed it.

Mr. Carr in his presidential report, briefly reviewed the year and complimented Leslie Osborne, the candidate, on the run he made in Saanich in the election.

A message of goodwill and hopes for a speedy recovery was forwarded to Dr. S. F. Toimie, ill at his home.

Chairmen of Junior Chamber of Commerce Committees Named at Dinner

Gathered at their annual dinner yesterday evening in Spencer's dining-room, about 30 members of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce witnessed motion pictures of jubilee celebrations here which illustrated well the splendid work they had done during the summer, and heard the new president's report on selection of committees for the ensuing year.

Ernest Harris, who recently succeeded T. E. Watkins as president, was chairman, and introduced Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins, who worked with the Junior Chamber in organizing jubilee celebrations.

Chairmen chosen to lead committees during the year were T. Bird, publicity; J. Hartree, as editor of the Junior Chamber Bulletin; Leslie Osborne, finance; J. McAllister, promotion; R. D. Harvey, aviation; G. C. Parrott, new membership; T. Sturgess, radio; Leslie Osborne, monuments; J. Barraclough, B.C. Electric franchise, and W. Bell, programme and entertainment. Committees on Canadian products and city beautification would be announced later, the president said.

ACTIVITIES

T. E. Watkins, past president, outlining for the guests and new members some of the past activities of the Junior Chamber, said he would like to see another air show sponsored by the body if an airport was secured here. He reviewed briefly the Junior Chamber's action in organizing the jubilee parades, the colored lighting system, the Victoria-Port Angeles canoe races and various other features.

Leslie Osborne, also a past president, and now president of the British Columbia Junior Chamber of Commerce, brought to the attention of members and prospective members that any problem in the city concerned them directly or indirectly, and that the Junior Chamber was an outlet through which, by helping themselves, they might help the whole of the city, province and Dominion.

Mr. Harris appealed directly for an increase in membership, and pointed out that the Junior Chamber had unlimited possibilities, if sufficiently active, to make Victoria a mecca for tourists and an extremely agreeable city in which to live.

Belated congratulations on the jubilee celebrations were brought from the United Commercial Travelers by Warren Martin.

MOTION PICTURES

The motion pictures, taken by Art Cann, which showed in remarkably good color many of the events of the past summer, were exhibited by Mr. Cann immediately after dinner.

Included were excellent views of the Shriners' parade, the Coronation celebrations at the Parliament Buildings, the brilliant and picturesque Indian pageant, and, in full detail, the afternoon parade organized by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as it passed the corner of Douglas and Broughton Street. Pictures of the "Hell Drivers" were also shown.

The next directors' meeting of the Junior Chamber will be held Monday, it was announced.

GIFT TO POLICE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Chief Constable W. W. Foster, Tuesday received a cheque for $100 from Prince Chichibu, brother of the Japanese Emperor, in appreciation of the work of Vancouver police who guarded him on his two recent visits to the city. The cheque has been placed in a fund for the benefit of police officers in need of financial assistance.

City Council Briefs

Provision for the construction of a lane on what would be Opal Street, but which, for technical reasons, may not be named such, was made by the council.

After lengthy debate the council shelved until its next meeting consideration of a suggestion to paint yellow no-park strips for 60 feet on each side of Quadra Street south of Tolmie Avenue. "Yellow lines don't stop people from parking. They park where they want and for as long as they want," Alderman R. A. C. Dewar remarked during the discussion. The council members and the chief of police will visit the area prior to the next council meeting to determine what action should be taken.

The tender of G. J. Yoxall, who submitted a bid of $274, to paint the grandstand and bleachers at the Athletic Park, was accepted.

Mayor McGavin paid tribute to the work of Alderman Hawkins, who secured the improvement of the street by the provincial government. The alderman had saved the city $1,000, the mayor said.

The location of forestry camps of the provincial government on city land was left with the mayor and Alderman John A. Worthington by the council last night following receipt of a letter asking permission to establish a camp on Goldstream across the road from the Cedar Grove tearooms.

The city should continue to press for a special wharf for fish boats here, Alderman W. T. Straith, one-man harbor committee, told the council last night as another objection to a proposed site was raised by officials of the Department of Transport.

Voluntary retirement of W. E. Evans, of the waterworks, and Alfred Halsey, of the sewer maintenance staff, was approved by the council on the recommendation of the finance committee. The same committee was supported in recommendations appointing P. W. Fisher official city rat catcher, in granting $75 to the Victoria Horticultural Society, in seeking power to mimeograph the city voters' list if such action is not too costly, in appointing Miss M. Tubman to the permanent staff as stenographer in the legal department, and in cancelling unsold city debentures printed in 1917 for an amount of $175,887.38.

In a manner which the council did not wish to make public, the city selected a bond dealer to sell a city-owned issue of $45,000 to meet a maturity of $47,000 which fell due this week.

St. Joseph's Hospital will be allowed a discount of 40 per cent on its water by the city. Last year, had the rebate been allowed, the hospital would have benefited to the extent of $799. A discount of 20 per cent has previously been allowed to the institution on most of the water it used.

Tributes to the late Archibald

Morgan Aitken and William Reid were paid by the City Council yesterday evening as the mayor and aldermen passed resolutions citing their work for the public generally and stood in silence in honor of their memories. Alderman J. A. Worthington presented the resolution referring to Mr. Aitken, while Alderman T. W. Hawkins spoke of Mr. Reid's service to the city, mentioning specifically his work on the transformation now being used for the new city light system.

Appointment of Thos. Crabbe to the staff of the city fire department was approved.

On the recommendation of the home committee, William A. Dodd was appointed cook at the Old Men's Home.

Possible purchase of inner doors for the City Hall, provided funds are available, was indicated on the recommendation of the public works executive. The executive also reported Saanich would submit a written outline of plans to overcome the nuisance caused to the city by sewers overflowing from Saanich.

The council approved the city engineer's recommendation to allow the British Columbia Electric Railway Company to bond its rails to certain water mains reportedly suffering from the effects of electrolysis.

Esquimalt Plans Nov. 11 Ceremony

Plans for Esquimalt's celebration of Remembrance Day, November 11, were discussed by the municipal council last night.

Permission was granted to the Esquimalt Community Club to hold a service in the Memorial Park, Esquimalt Road, on Armistice Day morning, but it was accompanied by a recommendation that a representative of the I.O.D.E. be invited to place the municipality's wreath on the memorial as in past years.

The Community Club has arranged for naval and military detachments to attend the ceremony, at which Rev. S. Bischoff will officiate. The Esquimalt Salvation Army Band will play. The I.O.D.E. also notified the council that it was presenting a new flag to the municipality, and asked that it be hoisted in the Memorial Park at dawn on November 11.
